Battle For Canton Nears As Key City Captured By Reds

By SPENCER MOOSA

CANTON (AP)—The battle for Canton neared today with the Communist capture of Tayu, a key city 170 miles to the northeast.

It is the broad Kan River valley, which leads to Canton. The road now is more or less clear to Kukong, 70 miles west. When the Reds reach Kukong the battle for Canton itself is begun, military observers believe.

Red Interference With Canadians In China Slight

OTTAWA (CP)—All's quiet on the eastern front as far as Canada's diplomatic corps is concerned. The external affairs department reported today that embassy and consular officials in the Communist-held Chinese cities of Nanking and Shanghai are carrying on with little interference from the Red conquerors.

Present plans are for diplomatic officials to sit tight and await developments in the war between the Nationalists and Communists in China.

Unlike the United States and the United Kingdom, Canada has no representatives in Canton, now in the path of the Communist advance.

Several months ago, when Nanking was besieged, T. C. Davis, Canadian ambassador to China, reported daily on conditions.

Snyder To Preside At Talks On U.K. Financial Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treasury Secretary John Snyder will preside at discussions among British, Canadian and United States officials here next month concerning Britain's financial crisis.

This was announced today in a joint statement by the State and Treasury Departments which said Snyder will serve as "host chairman" at the "request of President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson."

This referred to the top-level talks to begin Sept. 6 with Britain's Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin and Canada's External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson, sitting in with Sir Stafford Cripps, British Chancellor of the Exchequer and Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, in talks with Acheson and Snyder.

(In Ottawa, Prime Minister St.

Laurent said External Affairs Minister Pearson and probably Trade Minister Howe would also attend the talks.)

Groundwork for these sessions is to be laid, however, at "technical and fact-finding discussions among representatives of the three governments scheduled to begin Aug. 27," the communiqué said.

James E. Webb, Under-Secretary of State, will head the earlier sessions, whose purpose, the State-Treasury announcement said, will be:

"To discuss the balance-of-payments difficulties between the dollar and sterling areas and measures which could be taken to right the existing disequilibrium between the two areas, both in the long and short term."

Harvesting Under Way At Many Points On Prairies

WINNIPEG (CP)—Harvesting has started in many areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta but it will not be general in northern sections for another week, the Agricultural Departments of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways said today in their weekly crop reports.

Yields in southern Manitoba will range from 15 to 25 bushels an acre for wheat, with grades mostly No. 2 and No. 3 Northern. In northern Manitoba the weather has been exceedingly hot, and though cutting, combining and even threshing have begun, harvesting will not be general before the beginning of next week, the reports said.

Crops are ripening fast in eastern Saskatchewan because of extreme heat, and harvesting is general. Yields are "very poor" in south-central Saskatchewan. Prospects are for a bumper crop in the north as grains have filled well.

Finnish Red Leaders Arrested In Round-Up

By USKO HAUPPALA

HELSINKI (AP)—The Finnish government moved swiftly today to smash a growing Communist offensive as police nabbed Red leaders in Kemi, scene of Thursday's strike which left one dead and nine injured.

Among those arrested was Lahja Heikkilä, chairman of the Kemi City Council, described as a leader of Thursday's strike call. Another City Council member also was reported arrested.

Reliable reports said Communists from southern Finland were arrested at Kemi. This would indicate that Red agitators from Helsinki had been operating in the town, where 1,500 striking lumberjacks exchanged fire Thursday with police.

A government spokesman has said the strike offensive is designed to make Finland into a Communist state.

Meanwhile, strikers announced a new strike meeting tonight, in defiance of a ban by the governor of the northern province on all public gatherings.

A strike meeting also was called in Helsinki today. Communists leaders warned that the strike actions will continue.

The Communist press headlined their report of the Kemi clashes: "Workers' blood flows at Kemi." The stories spoke about "police terror."

45,000 IDLE

It has been estimated that some 45,000 workers are on strike. In some local strike adherence is 100 per cent, but at most places anti-Communist workers are refusing to walk out.

U.S. Radio Lotteries Forbidden

WASHINGTON (UP)—The federal communications commission today issued new rules which will knock radio give-away programs off the air. The new policy becomes effective on Oct. 1.

The commission said no station licenses will be renewed if the stations propose to continue broadcasting lotteries.

The commission called attention to the new rules, to the Communications Act of 1934 which provides that no radio station "shall knowingly permit the broadcasting of any advertisement or information concerning any lottery, gift enterprise or similar scheme offering prizes drawn or awarded by means of any such lottery, gift, enterprise or scheme."

The commission has no authority to supervise particular programs on the radio. It mentioned none in announcing the new rules. It merely said the question of whether a particular program falls within the provisions of the law will depend on the facts in each case.

St. Laurent's Aide Likely Leader Of Ontario Liberals

OTTAWA (BUP)—Walter Harris, parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, probably will be the next Liberal Party leader in Ontario, authoritative sources said today.

Persistent reports that Health and Welfare Minister Paul Martin was in the running for the post are discounted here.

Liberals know it will be a tough job to unseat Progressive Conservative Premier Leslie Frost and his followers, but they believed confidently that Harris could do it.

They counted not only on Harris' personal vote-getting talent proved in the last three federal contests, but also on the "war" said to be raging in the ranks of the Frost government.

Police Set Torch To Home, Kill Negro With Hail Of Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—A barricaded negro man stood off 125 policemen in a three-hour gun battle Thursday night before they set fire to his two-story frame home, then riddled him with bullets as he attempted to escape.

He was wanted for accidentally shooting a child.

The besieged man, Ernest Craig, 28, fired from windows with two revolvers and a rifle. Police poured hundreds of bullets and tossed about 200 tear gas bombs into the house before they applied the torch.

As flames spread throughout the house, Craig went out a second-story window and slid to the ground in an 18-inch passageway between his home and the neighboring house.

Police opened fire with four machine guns. At least 500 bullets hit Craig and as he lay on the ground, Detective Charles McCabe stood over him and fired four or five more bullets into the body.

Five policemen were wounded—none seriously—in the gun battle, started after Craig accidentally wounded two-year-old Drake Atkins in a frenzy of shooting.

Police said Craig had hired Laurence Mack, 17, a neighbor, to decorate his flat. Craig accused Mack of stealing a pistol and the two argued in Craig's yard.

Craig whipped out the pistols and began shooting, but Mack dodged and a bullet struck the Atkins child, playing nearby. Craig fled into the house and the battle with police started.

Reinforcements Fly Into Fire Area

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Officials of the provincial forestry branch said today they were forced to increase fire fighting crews after three new outbreaks in the Berens River area east of Lake Winnipeg.

Thirty more men were flown into the area bringing the total force to 180 men. The officials said none of the fires at the moment were thought to be serious but unusual precautions were necessary.

Police In Halifax Recapture Escapee

HALIFAX (CP)—George Finlayson, 27, of Lethbridge, who escaped from Rockhead City prison here Thursday, was captured by R.C.M.P. early today walking along the highway 10 miles from the city. He offered no resistance.

Finlayson was working on the prison farm when he made his break. Finlayson had served two weeks of a two-months sentence for attempting to obtain money under false pretences.

Manchester-Bound Dakota Cracks Up On Misty Moorland

MANCHESTER, Eng. (UP)—Twenty-three persons were reported killed today in the crash of a British European Airways plane in the fog-shrouded moorlands of Yorkshire.

The nine survivors among the 29 passengers and three crew members were reported seriously injured.

The airliner caught fire after crashing only a few miles from the Lancashire border on a flight from Belfast, North Ireland, to Manchester.

Soon afterward, a second plane, a light British Proctor, crashed in a cornfield 40 miles away. All three occupants were killed. The plane was on a test flight from Yeoman airfield in the west riding of Yorkshire.

Ambulance crews carried the survivors of the B.E.A. airliner crash on stretchers three miles across marshland to the Oldham Infirmary, in Lancashire, just across the border from Yorkshire.

Among the first reaching the infirmary were the Evans family—Horace, 34, his wife, Ruth, 36, and their son, Stephen, 5.

The twin-engine, American-built Dakota plowed into the hillside while descending in a heavy drizzle for a landing at Manchester's Ringway airfield, only a few minutes flying time away. Workers from a nearby mill aided in the rescue work.

The liner suddenly broke radio contact with Ringway airfield while descending for a landing.

Licking Wounds, Arms Aid Plan Limps Over To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Battered by the House of Representatives, the United States government's arm-aid program for foreign countries looked today to the Senate for gentler treatment.

The program was slashed and edged in with restrictions before the House passed it Thursday night by a 238 to 122 vote. A bad beating for President Truman's congressional forces.

A 50-per-cent cut was imposed on the $1,160,000,000 earmarked to help western European countries resist possible Russian aggression. Congress could decide to appropriate the rest of the funds next year.

On top of that, the House decreed that at least half of the supplies sent abroad must be carried in ships flying the U.S. flag. The lawmakers also tightened up a prohibition against using U.S. troops for other than non-combatant duty.

in connection with the program. But the House granted the full $211,370,000 the President wanted for aid to Greece and Turkey, and the $27,640,000 he asked for Iran, Korea and the Philippines and it beat back amendments to:

(1) Add $100,000,000 for China and other southeastern Asia areas, (2) Charge the western European allotment against the current United States military appropriation, (3) Withhold funds from Britain as long as Ireland remains partitioned, (4) Ban the use of United States troops for any purpose under the program, and (5) Require the President to channel production into areas suffering from acute unemployment problems. Truman supporters vainly hammered at the theme that Russia would use the reduction in the plan as fodder for propaganda that the U.S. does not trust its allies and is not willing to go all out to help them.

World Aviatix Returns To Britain After Year And Day

PRESTWICK, Scotland (AP)—Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait, British round-the-world flier, returned today to Britain, which she left just a year and a day ago.

Mrs. Morrow-Tait's single-engine plane landed at Prestwick airport from Iceland at 3:05 p.m. The model-turned-pilot was held up by weather in Iceland and so prevented from finishing the trip on the anniversary. Flying with her as navigator is Michael Townsend, 26.

Population Nearing 150,000,000 In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States' population is growing at the rate of 200,000 a month and may reach 150,000,000 by Nov. 1. This report from the census bureau said the estimated population was 149,215,000 July 1.

Wallace Says Program To Arm Europe Bad All Round

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry A. Wallace said in a prepared statement today that passage of an arm-aid program would "undermine the economy and military security of both the United States and Europe."

What's more, he said, statements in support of the program by President Truman and the country's military leaders "are the statements of men who are either intent on provoking war or are so afraid their case is weak they must incite passion to support it."

The Progressive Party's 1948 candidate for President was a witness before the combined foreign relations and armed services committees of the Senate.

He reiterated his belief that Russia does not want war, and said the administration program to arm this country's allies is part of a policy which has failed wherever it has been tried—in Greece, in Turkey and in China.

"The policy of the arms program was given a full run in China," the one-time vice-president said. "At long last the administration has admitted the complete failure of that policy in China. It was forced to by events."

Prime Minister Karl August Fagerholm visited President Juho Paasikivi today at the latter's summer residence at Kultaranta.

Unto Barjonen, minister without portfolio, and head of a cabinet board chosen to deal with strike threats, said the government intends to "inflict crushing defeat on the Communists."

The plumbers began their strike today. Employers said the walkout was 100 per cent effective.

The strike announced by the Forestry Workers and Loggers' Union also began today. It was not expected to be complete, as workers in several locals voted against the walkout.

Ruling May Knock Giveaway Programs Off U.S. Airways

WASHINGTON (UP)—The federal communications commission today issued new rules which will knock radio giveaway programs off the air. The new policy becomes effective on Oct. 1.

The commission said no station licenses will be renewed if the stations propose to continue broadcasting lotteries.

The commission called attention, in issuing the new rules, to the Communications Act of 1934 which provides that no radio station "shall knowingly permit the broadcasting of any advertisement or information concerning any lottery, gift enterprise or similar scheme offering prizes drawn or awarded by means of any such lottery, gift, enterprise or scheme."

ity to supervise particular programs on the radio. It mentioned none in announcing the new rules. It merely said the question of whether a particular program falls within the provisions of the law will depend on the facts in each case.

NEW YORK (UP)—The American Broadcasting Company said today it would make no change in its giveaway programs and would begin legal action immediately in an attempt to prove that none of them are lotteries.

The network was first of the big four to make a statement following the Federal Communications Commission ruling which threatened to kill an estimated 35 network giveaway shows with annual jackpots totaling $22,000,000.

Europe Union Urged To Set Up Court Of Human Rights

STRASBOURG (UP)—Pierre Henri Teitgen of France today called on the 12 European assembly nations to set up a common court of human rights as a step toward international sovereignty of morality and law.

"The only sovereignty worth fighting for and dying for is the sovereignty of morality and law," Teitgen said.

Teitgen supported a draft convention on human rights drawn up by the European movements, which lists among its members Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, assembly president, and Winston Churchill of Britain.

Teitgen said the assembly should recommend immediately to member governments that they agree to guarantee collectively that basic human rights be respected in all 12 nations.

He said the governments later should draw up common definitions of human rights and set up machinery for their enforcement, including an international court of human rights.

Indian Child Saved

DUNCAN (CP)—Speedy action of a visitor from New Westminster Thursday night saved the life of a drowning Indian child.

J. W. Sayer plunged, fully clothed, into Cowichan River to rescue 11-year-old Lillian Thomas. After dragging her from the water, he applied artificial respiration until the arrival of the inhalator squad.

LATEST 27 Killed As British Plane Crashes In Fog

OLDHAM, Lancashire, Eng. (CP)—A British European Airways plane crashed today and killed 27 of its 32 occupants. All were believed British.

En route from Belfast, Northern Ireland, to nearby Manchester, the twin-engine plane, a Dakota transport, was an hour out of Belfast.

The twin-engine transport approached Manchester in a thick mist. It plunged into a mountain side, exploded and burned.

Police officers at the scene said they counted 22 passengers and four crew members dead. Another passenger, a woman, died en route to hospital. About half the passengers were women.

A company official later said only 22 persons had been killed.

Two children, badly injured, were reported to be among the survivors.

Airline headquarters in London said the plane carried 28 passengers and a crew of four.

The plane came down at Cew Valley in desolate country on Saddleworth Moor, about five miles from Oldham and 13 miles northeast of Manchester.

The plane was approaching Manchester in bad weather at the time of the crash. A heavy mist lay over the mountain moorland, which borders on Yorkshire.

Workers at a nearby paper mill said they saw the plane break in two and burst into flames on the mountainside.

Four persons were killed in another crash at Baildon, near Shipley, Yorkshire, the Civil Aviation Ministry announced.

Curtailment Feared In Proposed Trips Of New Miss Canada

TORONTO (CP)—Directors of the Miss Canada contest said today funds may not be available to send Margaret Lynn Munn of North Vancouver to represent Canada at the Miss America contest in Atlantic City Labor Day.

Miss Munn won the Miss Canada title at a pageant here Thursday night which drew only 1,000 persons in the $5,000-capacity Maple Leaf Gardens. The pageant was cut to one night from two because of low ticket sales.

S. R. Weaver, director of the pageant, said a decision on sending Miss Munn to Atlantic City will not be made for a few days.

A promised cross-Canada tour may also be canceled but she will get a trip to Peru, paid for by the Peruvian government. She may also go to Australia—at the expense of the Australian government.

Miss Munn is sure of a $3,000 scholarship, guaranteed by contributions from business firms, and a $1,000 diamond ring given to her Thursday night.

The gate was less than $1,500 and the pageant will drop several thousand dollars. Some officials said it might not be repeated next year but Mr. Weaver said it would go on.

U.S. Atlantic Pact Bases Near Russia Not Intended

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senator John Foster Dulles (R., N.Y.) in an exchange with Henry A. Wallace, indicated today that the United States has no intention of establishing military bases near Russia's borders under the Atlantic defense pact.

His exchange with the former vice-president, who heads the Progressive Party, came after Wallace accused President Truman of inciting false fears of Russia. Wallace said Mr. Truman was doing this in a "reprehensible" effort to push through his $1,450,000,000 program for arming free nations against Communist aggression.

Wallace testified before the combined Senate foreign relations and armed services committees as administration leaders planned a Senate fight to restore a $389,495,000 cut voted in the arms program by the House.

Wallace reminded the Republican foreign policy expert that in the past Dulles had expressed hope that U.S. military bases would not be established in Norway, near the Soviet frontier.

Dulles, who has consulted frequently with the State Department on defense plans under the pact, replied, "that hope is being realized; I understand that we do not intend to establish bases close to Russia."

It had been assumed in some quarters that U.S. air bases, at least, would be established in Norway.

Wallace asked Dulles if he knew whether American air bases had been established in Turkey, and the senator replied that he did not know.

War Veterans Vigilantes To Clean Up Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The "Old West" moved in today on the Mickey Cohen case with formation of a vigilante committee. The committee, mostly World War II veterans, announced that it planned "citizen action to stop lawlessness, restore integrity to government and to protect our families." A spokesman said it will seek appointment of a special prosecutor.

Five federal agencies, meanwhile, studied the explosive transcripts of the police recordings of the gambling boss' private home conversations.

U.S. Attorney James M. Carter said the matter will be presented to the federal grand jury when it reconvenes Aug. 31. He added that the panel will consider indictment of one "major" member of the Cohen mob.

Relief Here Expected To Follow Pace Being Set In United States

Canada Protests Treatment Given Company In Spain

OTTAWA (BUP)—The United States and Belgium were ranged alongside Canada today in another stiff-worded protest to the Franco regime over treatment in Spain of a Canadian company, the Barcelona Traction Light and Power.

External affairs department officials said a second protest had been sent from Ottawa, but they refused to disclose its contents. "It was understood, however, that words were not minced in the text."

At the same time, the United States State Department instructed its charges d'affaires in Madrid to support the Canadian protest, likewise Belgium.

Officials said the American support was given on the principle of treatment of foreign capital in Spain. The American representations had been made about two weeks ago, but so far no reply had been received.

On the other hand, the Belgian government associated itself with the notes because of a direct personal interest in the company. The Belgians hold substantial interest in the securities of the Barcelona Light and Power.

The whole issue was stirred up when a Spanish court declared the company bankrupt and seized practically all its operating assets.

No Fingerprints Of Wanted Man Found On Truck

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Police said there was no connection between a stolen truck found here today and Donald W. Henderson, 33, wanted for the murder of a waitress in Calgary.

Henderson, a University of Saskatchewan graduate, disappeared after police found the beaten body of Yvonne Levesque, 24, in an auto camp.

The stolen truck found abandoned here was checked for Henderson's fingerprints and none found. Police said it was definitely established Henderson spent a night in the city last week-end.

An automobile believed used by the wanted man was found Thursday and taken to police headquarters here.

British Aviatix Lands Near London Ending World Flight

LONDON (UP)—Mrs. Richards Morrow-Tait, Britain's flying housewife, today became the first woman to fly around the world in a single engine aircraft—but it took her a year and a day to do it.

The attractive 25-year-old former model and mother of a three-year-old daughter, landed her plane, Thursday's Child II, at Croydon airport just outside London at 7:26 p.m.

She stepped from the plane into the arms of her husband, Richard, a Cambridge mining engineer, then embraced her daughter, Anna. They handed her a bouquet of gladioli. She was accompanied by her navigator, Michael Townsend, 25, handsome Cambridge University undergraduate.

Unemployment Increase

FRANKFURT (Reuter)—Unemployment in the Anglo-American zone of Germany reached a postwar high of 1,267,247 in mid-August, the German bizonal labor administration announced. The mid-August figure was 12,699 more than the figure for July 31.

OTTAWA (BUP)—Budget-worried housewives could expect a big sag in high food prices within the next month or so, government officials predicted in Ottawa.

The officials said the announcement by the American Meat Institute in Chicago that pork prices would drop, meant Canadian prices would follow suit. Pork was expected to drop within a week or 10 days and undoubtedly would drag down the price of beef as well.

The American tumble probably also would affect prices of Canadian beef, pork, lamb, veal and eggs, the officials said.

Lesser declines were expected on fruits and vegetables, but the officials added that milk, butter and cheese would hold firm.

Generally speaking, the officials summed up, prices were on the way down, with ample supplies available. Potatoes were in sufficient supply to meet the demand, as were most fruits and vegetables.

Battle For Canton Nears As Reds Capture Key City

By SPENCER MOOSA

CANTON (AP)—The battle for Canton neared today with the Communist capture of Tayu, a key city 170 miles to the northeast.

It is the broad Kan River valley, which leads to Canton.

The road now is more or less clear to Kungong, 70 miles west. When the Reds reach Kungong the battle for Canton itself is begun, military observers believe.

The loss of Kungong would isolate Canton from the 200,000 man army of Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, commander on the front to the north.

Press reports said civilians in increasing numbers were fleeing from Kungong.

The defence ministry said Pai's forces had wiped out a Communist division and an artillery battalion in a battle 50 miles northwest of Hengyang.

Hengyang is Pai's base 265 miles almost due north of Canton. The registry said most of the Red forces were killed and except for a handful the rest were captured. This might mean 10,000 men.

Underlining the gravity of Canton's situation, the United States embassy announced it was moving to Hongkong.

Embassy officials will commute daily by plane with Canton as long as conditions permit. (British officials plan to keep their offices in the city.)

Canadian Diplomats Stay

OTTAWA (CP)—All's quiet on the eastern front as far as Canada's diplomatic corps is concerned.

The external affairs department reported today that embassy and consular officials in the Communist-held Chinese cities of Nanking and Shanghai are carrying on with little interference from the Red conquerors.

Present plans are for diplomatic officials to sit tight and await developments in the war between the Nationalists and Communists in China.

Unlike the United States and the United Kingdom, Canada has no representatives in Canton, now in the path of the Communist advance.

Several months ago, when Nanking was besieged, T. C. Davis, Canadian ambassador to China, reported daily on conditions.

U.S. Cutter Rushing To Aid Disabled Refugee Vessel

HALIFAX (BUP)—A U.S. Coast Guard cutter plunged through the heavy Atlantic swell off Cape Race today to help the disabled Latvian refugee ship Amanda, carrying about 32 people, including a sick woman.

The cutter left its Newfoundland station early today, and headed for the Amanda, reported to be 450 miles southeast of Halifax.

A Canso aircraft from the U.S. Argentina base on Newfoundland, circled the schooner late Thursday. A heavy sea was running and the plane was unable to land to take off the sick woman.

The woman was believed to have given birth to a child 10 days ago and suffered complications. The condition of the baby was not known.

The weather-beaten little ship rode a violent Atlantic gale which had tossed even giant liners last week, but it survived with torn and flapping sails.

The craft was first sighted Wednesday at dusk by the Spanish freighter Campas, and later by the U.S. army transport General Patch.

Quebec Inquiry Scores Chiropractic

QUEBEC (CP)—A special commission of inquiry set up by the Quebec government has reported that "chiropractors have failed entirely in their task of establishing that their theory rests on a scientific foundation." It was made known today.

The commission, headed by Magistrate Joseph Marier of Quebec session court, reported that "the practice of manipulation of the spine, useless in most cases, is dangerous in a great number of other cases."

Aussie Dollar Loan Said Unpopular

SYDNEY (CP)—Australia is not likely to seek a dollar loan from any source, the Morning Herald says today in a story by its Canberra correspondent.

The correspondent says the federal cabinet had discussed the Dominion's dollar position and agreed to a 25 per cent cut in Australian dollar imports as recommended by the dollar sub-committee. The cabinet also decided to ask the sub-committee to intensify efforts to increase Australian exports to dollar areas.

The story says it is clear from the attitude of the ministers that a dollar loan would be unpopular.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

HARDY PERENNIAL

SOMEWHERE or other I read a paragraph which I tucked away in my memory and which, in effect, went this way: "If there is one thing more than another that shows a beautiful nature it is the power to admire other people's flowers."

Perhaps I remembered it because it left me feeling glowingly expansive with the knowledge that I must have a beautiful nature—other people's flowers always seem to me so much finer than my own.

That is particularly true when it comes to the growing of perennials—for everybody else's perennial border looks so much bigger and better than ours.

PERFECT SYMPHONY

JUST THE other day we were out visiting friends in Saanich and I fairly drooled over their perennial border. It had everything in it that I wanted in mine—plus some others that were new to me.

I exclaimed over this gorgeous whorl and that lovely whorl, and made a note to get some for next year. And when I inquired as to whether she grew them from seed or how, I learned that my friend grew them from tiny slips given her by someone else. She's that kind of green-thumbed wizard!

I noted with envy the size and profusion of her montbretias, marveled at the giant rudbeckias, gazed with wonderment at the colorful masses of dahlias and helenium, to mention but a few.

WATER HAZARD

EVEN THE idiosyncrasies of the Saanich water system seem to have been no hazard to that particular perennial border's lush luxuriance.

Despite the uncertainty of the water supply, and the other what you might call occupational hazards of gardening—such as earwigs—she has achieved the sort of results that I yearn for but never seem to attain when it comes to perennials. And, goodness knows, I have worked hard enough at it.

Somewhere or other, in one or other of the gardening books or catalogues—and which, incidentally, have a more demoralizing effect on me than comes on a juvenile—I read that perennial borders are like so many other things we hear of these days: they must be planned.

SLIGHTLY READY

SAID CATALOGUES lure you to your doom with gorgeous splashes of color rising in tiers from the low masses of blossom in front to towering towers of bloom at the back, all beautifully graduated. And on the accompanying key diagram you are told just what to plant and how many to achieve the pictured effect—just like that!

But like planned economies and other things, it just doesn't work out that way. The perennials that on paper are a foot high turn into spindly plants nearer three feet—and hide the showier things behind them.

And the what-its-name which is supposed to grow to six or eight feet—and that you put at the back for that reason—suddenly decides to do dwarfish, while in between the two you get a hit-and-miss collection of freakish Mutt and Jeff effects, instead of compact clumps.

COLOR CONSCIOUS

THE SAME THING goes for color. You read, some cold

October night, that with proper planning you can have color in your garden from February to February—more or less. By following a plan, this will succeed that, just at the right time to produce the masses of color that I, for one, crave for in a garden. But that's just hooey. The zinnias that I had staked my all on—dozens and dozens of them—instead of burgeoning into a blaze of color, just turned up their toes, or roots, and died on me.

So it seems that, as with mice and men, the best-laid plans of gardeners like me "gang aft agley." The only thing I can count on for certainty are those hardy perennials, the weeds, and those come in masses without any planning or planting. Now if one could only dye them . . . !

New Zealand Aid For Hongkong

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—Prime Minister Peter Fraser Thursday told House of Representatives that New Zealand will send three Dakota air transports to assist British forces at Hongkong. The British government had requested the planes. The three planes, with 57 officers and men, will be used for transport between Singapore and Hongkong. The twin-engine craft will be based at Singapore. Fraser said arrangements also are being made to send three New Zealand frigates to Hongkong if they are required.

Insurance Adjuster Will Rule On Fate Of Wrecked Fishboat

Smoke billowed from cabin of Lone Ranger II, following explosion aboard vessel berthed at Home Oil Company wharf, Shoal Point, Thursday afternoon. City firemen poured water aboard boat to prevent outburst of flames which would have endangered wharf. (This photo by Harold Robinson, mate aboard tugboat Island Champion).

Force of engine-room explosion pushed out sides of vessel. Note forward planking completely off main bow rib. Sea water filled vessel in matter of minutes, leaving her 15-feet submerged, as above.

Fate of the Indian-owned fishboat, Lone Ranger II, which exploded and sank Thursday afternoon while docked at the Home Oil Wharf, in the entrance of Victoria's Inner Harbor, was in the hands of insurance company officials today.

R. B. Crombie, of Crombie Insurance adjusters, was scheduled to inspect the vessel on the ways at Wilby Machine Shop, foot of Montreal Street, sometime this afternoon, and reach a decision as to whether or not repair work should be undertaken.

Veteran fishermen who viewed the boat earlier ruled that repair of the vessel would be almost impossible. The explosion occurred about 2 p.m. The vessel submerged within minutes but was later raised by the Island Tug and Barge Co.'s derrick and towed to Wilby's marine shipway at 8.30 last night by the tug Island Trooper.

Aboard the vessel at the time of the mishap were Mike Williams, 33, owner of the boat; his two brothers, Pete, 18, and Simon, 15, and his six-year-old son, Walter. All escaped uninjured.

The boat, from Bamfield, west coast Vancouver Island, had just taken on 316 gallons of gasoline and was about to embark for up-island.

"I pulled the starter and it just blew up," Mike Williams said as he gazed in awe as his boat submerged in 15 feet of water.

SPARK IGNITED GAS FUMES

Firemen advanced the theory that a spark from the engine ignited gasoline fumes trapped in the hull, causing the violent explosion. Force of the blow-up pushed plank sides of the vessel completely off the ship's ribs and sent glass from the cabin flying 20 feet into the air.

City fire fighters, led by Fire Chief Robert Brindle sped to the scene, following a report that the actual wharf was on fire.

Four trucks, three from the main hall and one from the James Bay sub-station, responded to the call. Realizing they had no chance of saving the sinking 39-foot vessel, firemen concentrated on preventing flames from developing which would have endangered the wharf.

The Williams brothers built the boat themselves two years ago and were operating it as a tuna vessel. The three have a fishing agreement with B.C. Packers' Ltd., and came to the company's Victoria plant Thursday morning to unload a catch they had taken 70 miles off Estevan.

Licking Wounds, Arms Aid Plan Limps Over To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Battered by the House of Representatives, the United States government's arm-aid program for foreign countries looked today to the Senate for gentler treatment.

The program was slashed and edged in with restrictions before the House passed it Thursday night by a 238 to 122 vote. A bad beating for President Truman's congressional forces.

A 50-per-cent cut was imposed on the $1,160,990,000 earmarked to help western European countries resist possible Russian aggression. Congress could decide to appropriate the rest of the funds next year.

On top of that, the House decreed that at least half of the supplies sent abroad must be carried in ships flying the U.S. flag. The lawmakers also tightened up a prohibition against using U.S. troops for other than non-combatant duty in connection with the program.

But the House granted the full $211,370,000 the President wanted for aid to Greece and Turkey, and the $27,640,000 he asked for Iran, Korea and the Philippines and it beat back amendments to:

(1) Add $100,000,000 for China and other southeastern Asia areas, (2) Charge the western European allotment against the current United States military appropriation, (3) Withhold funds from Britain as long as Ireland remains partitioned, (4) Ban the use of United States troops for any purpose under the program, and (5) Require the President to channel production into areas suffering from acute unemployment problems.

Truman supporters vainly hammered at the theme that Russia would use the reduction in the plan as fodder for propaganda that the U.S. does not trust its Allies and is not willing to go all out to help them.

St. Laurent's Aide Likely Leader Of Ontario Liberals

OTTAWA (BUP)—Walter Harris, parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, probably will be the next Liberal Party leader in Ontario, authoritative sources said today.

Persistent reports that Health and Welfare Minister Paul Martin was in the running for the post are discounted here.

Liberals know it will be a tough job to unseat Progressive Conservative Premier Leslie Frost and his followers, but they believed confidently that Harris could do it.

They counted not only on Harris' personal vote-getting talent proved in the last three federal contests, but also on the "war" said to be raging in the ranks of the Frost government.

Snyder To Preside At Talks On U.K. Financial Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treasury Secretary John Snyder will preside at discussions among British, Canadian and United States officials here next month concerning Britain's financial crisis.

This was announced today in a joint statement by the State and Treasury Departments which said Snyder will serve as "host chairman" at the "request of President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson."

This referred to the top-level talks to begin Sept. 6 with Britain's Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin and Canada's External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson, sitting in with Sir Stafford Cripps, British Chancellor of the Exchequer and Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, in talks with Acheson and Snyder. (In Ottawa, Prime Minister St.

Laurent said External Affairs Minister Pearson and probably Trade Minister Howe would also attend the talks.)

Groundwork for these sessions is to be laid, however, at "technical and fact-finding discussions among representatives of the three governments scheduled to begin Aug. 27," the communique said.

James E. Webb, Under-Secretary of State, will head the earlier sessions, whose purpose, the State-Treasury announcement said, will be:

"To discuss the balance-of-payments difficulties between the dollar and sterling areas and measures which could be taken to right the existing disequilibrium between the two areas, both in the long and short term."

Harvesting Under Way At Many Points On Prairies

WINNIPEG (CP)—Harvesting has started in many areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta but it will not be general in northern sections for another week, the Agricultural Departments of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways said today in their weekly crop reports.

Yields in southern Manitoba will range from 15 to 25 bushels an acre for wheat, with grades mostly No. 2 and No. 3 Northern. In northern Manitoba the weather has been exceedingly hot, and though cutting, combining and even threshing have begun, harvesting will not be general before the beginning of next week, the reports said.

Crops are ripening fast in eastern Saskatchewan because of extreme heat, and harvesting is general. Yields are "very poor" in south-central Saskatchewan. Prospects are for a bumper crop in the north as grains have filled well.

Police Set Torch To Home, Kill Negro With Hail Of Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—A barricaded negro man stood off 125 policemen in a three-hour gun battle Thursday night before they set fire to his two-story frame home, then riddled him with bullets as he attempted to escape.

He was wanted for accidentally shooting a child.

The besieged man, Ernest Craig, 28, fired from windows with two revolvers and a rifle. Police poured hundreds of bullets and tossed about 200 tear gas bombs into the house before they applied the torch.

As flames spread throughout the house, Craig went out a second-story window and slid to the ground in an 18-inch passageway between his home and the neighboring house.

Police opened fire with four machine guns. At least 500 bullets hit Craig and as he lay on the ground, Detective Charles McCabe stood over him and fired four or five more bullets into the body.

Five policemen were wounded—none seriously—in the gun battle, started after Craig accidentally wounded two-year-old Drake Atkins in a frenzy of shooting.

Police said Craig had hired Laurence Mack, 17, a neighbor, to redecorate his flat. Craig accused Mack of stealing a pistol and the two argued in Craig's yard.

Craig whipped out the pistols and began shooting, but Mack dodged and a bullet struck the Atkins child, playing nearby. Craig fled into the house and the battle with police started.

New Vancouver Island Roads Take Shape

Vancouver Island is receiving full attention in the provincial government's gigantic highway reconstruction program.

When present contracts have been completed, possibly some time this winter, 86 miles of island roads will have been rebuilt since 1945.

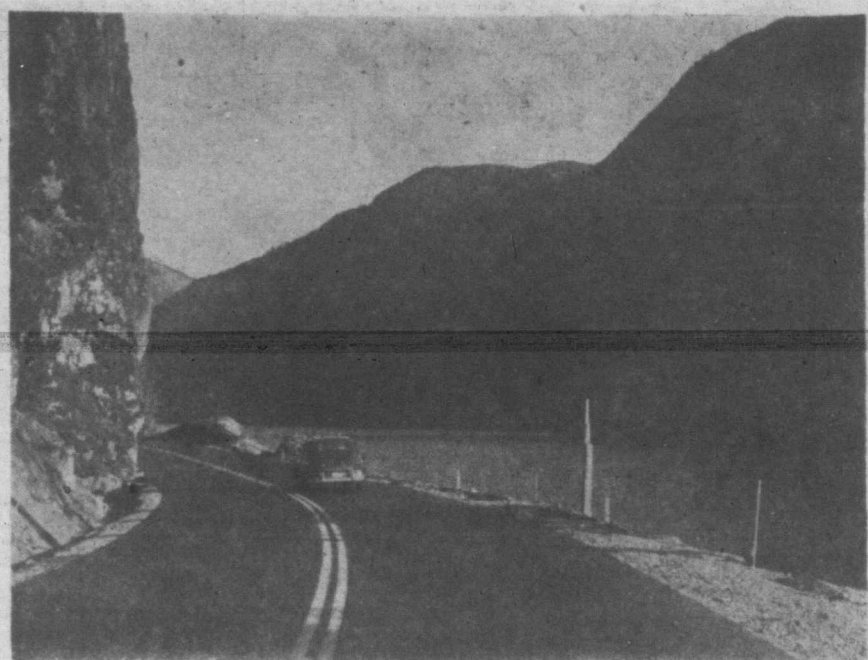

This was learned today from engineers of Public Works Minister E. C. Carson's department, who reported good progress on 32.15 miles of roads now under construction.

Of the 86 miles in Vancouver Island's share of the provincial program, 53.85 miles have been completed, most of it in the last two or three years.

In rebuilding the 53.85 miles, 1,395,430 cubic yards of material was excavated of which 70,000 cubic yards was solid rock.

Three major projects, completed last year and this year, are the Lantzville to Qualicum highway, 20.4 miles long; Fanny Bay to Union Bay highway, 4.75 miles, and the Parksville to Cameron Lake highway, 20 miles.

In the Lantzville-Qualicum project, started in 1946 and finished last year, 547,080 cubic yards of material was excavated. Excavation in the Fanny Bay project, started in 1947 and completed in 1948, amounted to 103,350 cubic yards. The new Cameron Lake road, started in 1946 and finished

New highway from Parksville to Cameron Lake was completed this year and contract has just been awarded for 5.72 mile stretch from Cathedral Grove into Alberni.

this year, saw 580,000 cubic yards moved. Completed earlier was 8.7

miles of roads including 1.05 of the Oyster Bay highway; 1.33 miles of the Rough Creek section of the Island Highway; 3.10 miles of the Shawnigan-Mill Bay road; 1.42 miles of the Rosewall Creek road; and 1.87 miles of the Shawnigan Lake road.

The 32.15 miles of highways under construction now are broken down into seven projects, the longest from Duncan to Ladysmith, a distance of 17.2 miles. This stretch is divided into two projects. Of the 17.2 miles, about 10 miles have been graded, but have not yet been graveled.

The five other projects of the program not finished are: Bowser to Cook Creek, 4.68 miles; Sandwick Revision, 1.92 miles; Mill Bay, 1.4 miles; Niagara Creek, 1.23 miles and Cathedral Grove to Alberni, 5.72 miles.

It is estimated that a total of 1,319,000 cubic yards of excavation will be necessary in the rebuilding of the 32.15 miles, including 376,000 cubic yards of solid rock.

In addition to these projects are four other road-building jobs being carried out by district engineers of the public works department.

They are: Sooke Road from Mile 2 to Mile 12; Brentwood-Mill Bay ferry landings; Nanaimo Lakes Road, and the York Road in the Comox district.

Approximately 135 men are at work on the biggest project, the Duncan-Ladysmith section of the Island Highway, and a list of the machinery on the job gives a better idea of the extent of the work.

Six big power shovels, varying from one-half yard to two-yard capacity, are growing out the excavations; five air compressors are running rock drills; 30 trucks are hauling the material; 16 bulldozers are cleaning out the excavations; seven large scrapers are leveling as well as two motor graders; four tractors are hauling too and a cement crusher, a roofer and a cement mixer are at work as well.

Law, Government Represented At Newsman's Rites

Archdeacon Robert Connell officiated at funeral services Thursday, from Thomson's Funeral Home, for Percy C. Rawling, one of the veteran newspapermen of British Columbia who died Monday, at the age of 70.

A large group of Vancouver newspapermen came over for the service.

Pallbearers were Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan, Hon. E. C. Carson, Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, O. L. Leigh-Spencer, Harry A. Bowden and D. A. McGregor.

Coming to Canada from England in 1899, Mr. Rawling moved to British Columbia in 1909. He joined the staff of the Daily Colonist and five years later went to Vancouver where he was employed by the Province until his retirement four years ago.

Following funeral services, cremation took place at the Royal Oak Crematorium. Mr. Rawling is survived by a sister, Mabel, in England; a niece, Peggy Hunter, also in England, and a cousin, H. A. Bowden of Victoria.

Last Tributes Paid Margaret Mitchell

ATLANTA (AP)—Hundreds of persons stood outside a small stone chapel as last rites were held Thursday for Margaret Mitchell, author of "Gone With The Wind."

Loudspeakers brought to the public the solemn and dignified words of the Episcopal Church service. Some 300 persons, admitted by invitation only, crowded the inside of the funeral home.

Miss Mitchell, struck down by a speeding automobile last Thursday night, died Tuesday.

Many persons stood along streets and watched as the funeral procession moved to Oakland cemetery, on the southwestern edge of the city.

There Miss Mitchell was buried in the family plot, not far from the monument to the unknown civil war dead.

POLICY REVEALED

A QUESTION THAT HAS BECOME IN-creasingly controversial during the past few months; namely, how much American assistance can safely be given to Yugoslavia in its present position as an anti-Russian—although still Communist—state, has been partially answered. The United States has given approval to the export of a $3,000,000 steel mill to Marshal Tito's country, apparently banking on the possibilities that the Moscow-Belgrade quarrel will not be settled in the foreseeable future. There is, of course, an element of gambling in the project—State Secretary Dean Acheson has termed the deal a "calculated risk"—but it is evidently felt that the prospects of Tito, turning the completed mill over to Kremlin uses, including munitions manufacture, are slim.

Taken into account in making this decision no doubt were such facts as the recent sharp exchange of notes between the Soviet Union and its former satellite over the U.S.S.R.'s refusal to support Yugoslav claims to a portion of Austrian territory as reparations, the Soviet branding of Tito's nation as "an enemy and foe," and the Marshal's arrest of some 1,500 "saboteurs," who presumably were working against Yugoslavia as agents of the Soviet Union. Such developments go far beyond the bounds of what could be suspected of being a deliberate pretence to deceive the western democracies. News of the steel mill transaction no doubt has been received in Moscow with chagrin. Russia could well use such a plant—but no such "war potential" material has been exported by the United States to any Communist-dominated country since the start of the so-called "cold war."

It is stated that the processing mill will not increase Yugoslavia's total steel output, but will enable that country to refine ingots produced by existing blast furnaces. The major purpose of the mill, according to the purchasers, will be to turn out steel rails—a vital factor in the government's development program. Bolstering of the Tito regime, as opposed to Stalin-Communists, and rehabilitation of the Yugoslavian economy now appear to be recognized policies of the United States government. Satellites with a tendency to waver from the Kremlin's straight-and-narrow might take note.

A MAJOR ONSLAUGHT

FINLAND, WHICH HAS PROBABLY suffered more from Russian aggression than any other non-satellite country, is in the throes of a general strike crisis that gives every indication of being a major Communist attempt to gain control of the government. Already an armed clash has occurred between strikers and police, resulting in one death and a number of injuries. Others are inevitable if the walkout forces troops to intervene in an effort to save the country from an industrial breakdown. It is significant that the strike of dock workers has paralyzed all of Finland's harbors but two which are handling supplies for Russia.

The immediate cause of the workers' action is an effort to win wage increases of as much as 30 per cent—a cost increase which Finnish industry could scarcely be expected to bear. But the political ramifications are perhaps even more serious than the economic situation that has been precipitated. Finland has felt the heavy hand of her powerful neighbor in both war and peace, and the present conflict inspired by Communist-dominated labor unions can come as no surprise to the government. Back of the Communists' surge of activity are reports that the Finnish organization had fallen into disfavor in Moscow because it had been losing ground among the workers for the past four years. A desperate effort to show its power and restore its standing appears to be in progress. Finland's methods of meeting the menace will be watched with interest by the free world.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

TO THE FLAGPOLE-SITTERS, NIAGARA barrel riders, and potential English Channel swimmers—all symbols of that abnormality promoted by so-called more normal times—is added the spectacle of feuding cities. In Canada during recent weeks, London and Peterborough have been quarrelling over the right to a statue of Queen Victoria. (We, who probably have a prior claim, have such a statue, thank you, prominently displayed.) And now Guelph and New Westminster are challenging each other's right to the title of "Royal City." This, of course, is a squabble into which a multitude of Canadian cities might enter—Windsor, for instance, Regina, named after the queen, any number of other towns which imply royal connections. But while New Westminster challenges Guelph on the sole right to the regal nickname, we cannot help thinking of another word used to designate some of the people on the banks of the Fraser. It is a name that has brought wide publicity and acclaim to our southern British Columbia neighbor. But nobody seems inclined to violate the understood copyright on "Salmonbellies."

FITTINGLY HONORED

MANY BRITISH COLUMBIA LIBERALS have disagreed with the opinion expressed by Mr. Arthur Laing, federal M.P. elect for Vancouver South, on the subject of coalition. At the party's last provincial convention divergent points of view were fully aired. The opponents of Mr. Laing prevailed—as this newspaper firmly believes they should have prevailed. But there can be little doubt about the fact that all join in appreciation of the complete honesty and integrity displayed by this staunch Canadian in maintaining the position he took.

Because of the high opinion of the man who will represent Vancouver South at Ottawa, gratification will be general over the honor conferred upon him by Prime Minister St. Laurent in delegating Mr. Laing to second the traditional Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. He, of a vast number of English-speaking Liberals from all parts of the Dominion, has been singled out for this distinction on sound grounds. Arthur Laing is a well-informed and highly regarded member of the party. That he is so considered in Ottawa should be a matter of great personal satisfaction to the member-elect and to the province which has every confidence in his character and abilities as an excellent representative.

'IN THE RANKS OF THE CZAR'

ACCORDING TO A UNITED PRESS despatch from Moscow, the Russians allege that they not only swim farther and faster than anybody else, but started long-distance swimming back in 1773. That is a year or two after Leander performed his trick in the Hellespont. But what does it prove? Certainly nothing about the endurance or prowess of Communists. Isn't there something faintly embarrassing about the "firsts" that are emerging from the Soviet propaganda machine these days? Anything that predates 1917, it should be recalled, was the product of a regime which the boys in the Kremlin and their immediate predecessors took pains to run out of the country. Or have we been misreading history? Should it have been Comrade Kater instead of Catherine the Great? And should we henceforth read our textbooks to make a famous Peter read Comissar Pete throughout?

THRICE BLESSED

TO THE MAN OR WOMAN IN WHOM artistic talent is sadly lacking, the possession of rare ability in the creation of music is something to be admired and envied. An outstanding performer, whether vocal or instrumental, possesses an asset of great value which should be developed to as high a point of perfection as possible, and the ungifted will gladly form an audience at every opportunity. But when an artist enjoys not only exceptional ability at the piano but is also "tops" as a singer, it would seem that the Muses have showed favoritism in distributing their gifts. Addition of still another attribute, mastery of a second instrument, removes the possessor from ordinary levels of envy, and places him or her in a very special category.

Such a person is young Mary McDonald of Toronto, whose talents are now receiving increased attention in her homeland. No less an expert than Andre Kostelanetz, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, has described her as having "a dazzling piano technique and a beautiful voice." He declared himself unable to decide to which form of artistry she should devote her chief attention. Two careers lie open to her. But the Toronto girl is also one of Canada's three masters of the harpsichord, and shows no limitations in her command of this lesser-known instrument. That she has had to go outside her own country to win recognition is a fact that should be given serious consideration by Canadians. True virtuosity is sufficiently rare to merit every encouragement possible from those who can only listen.

MUSSOLINI'S LOOT

ANOTHER CHAPTER, OR EPILOGUE, to the sordid story of Mussolini's looting is about to unfold in Milan as court action is initiated in an effort to determine the disposition of the loot Il Duce had with him when he fell into partisan hands and died ignominiously.

There have been several reports about the treasure, estimated to have a value up to $10,000,000. In the course of proceedings, it is hoped to run down the different clues that have come into the possession of the authorities. It seems inevitable that the hearings will be colored by the implications of present political tensions. It should not be forgotten, however, if the treasure is recovered, that it was part of the "boodle" collected by the former No. 1 Fascist and that legal processes, in the light of democratic justice at least, should take into consideration rightful ownership of the property in question. It may not be enough to decide who appropriated the treasure after it had left Mussolini's possession. Some consideration should be given to the sources from which it came before it was assembled by the founder of the Blackshirts.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP From London.
HIGH PRICE OF DOING NOTHING

THOUGHTFUL American officials are now talking seriously of the time when the United States will be forced by the pressure of circumstances to offer the British something like common citizenship—at least a common currency and a free exchange of population. The parallel is obvious—Winston Churchill's desperate 11th-hour gesture to the French in 1940.

That intelligent and informed men can talk seriously of such an offer being made is in itself a measure of the meaning to the United States of the British crisis. For an Anglo-American union is not, obviously, practical politics. It is even less practical politics in England, which already fears being transformed into a "49th state," than in the United States.

IT IS probably not even practical, economics. It is true that such a union would open up the vast continental market of the United States to England, and the great sterling area market to the United States. But most economists—especially British economists—believe that in the free competition that would ensue, the gigantic American economy would soon strangle the weaker British economy.

Yet the offer may some day be made, as it was made by Churchill in 1940, in sheer desperation, when it is already too late. If this is not to happen, some new and bold approach, which is both practical, politics and practical economics, must be found to deal with the economic sickness which is weakening and splintering the Western World.

A PLAN which is at least new and bold is being widely discussed here by wise and powerful men. This plan is worth describing, if only because the ideas on which it is based are obviously influencing the thinking of the men, including Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps, who are trying to grapple with Britain's desperate crisis.

This plan is designed to deal with the two factors which are seizing up the machinery of world trade. One factor is simply that you can buy more for dollars than you can for pounds or for any "soft" currency. This creates a single-minded world-wide thirst for dollars. And this is the second factor—this thirst is accentuated by the fact that the soft currency economies, and especially the sterling area, have too little in reserve. Because there is so little left in the British kitty, people rush to trade pounds for dollars, by hook or by crook, before it is too late. This "leakage," mostly illegal, accounts in very large measure for this summer's economic crisis.

THE FIRST STEP in the plan would thus be to call an International Monetary Conference to devalue all European currencies down to their real purchasing power in terms of dollars. The pound, for example, would be reduced from $4 to $3.

This would pull down the standard of living in England, because the British people would get less from abroad in exchange for what they produced at home. But both the E.C.A. and the British Treasury have made independent studies of how great the drop would be, and both came up with the same answer—only about 4 per cent. And this is better than the real misery which otherwise seems inevitable in prospect for the British.

THIS CUT in living standards would be the British and European contribution to the plan. The American contribution would be far less painful. The American Treasury would raise the price of gold from $35 to $45 an ounce. This would automatically, and without touching a hair on an American taxpayer's head, raise the value of the huge American gold hoard by about $8,000,000,000. This great sum would then be earmarked as backing to permit the free exchange of currencies and the freeing of trade.

With the pound and the European currencies at their real dollar value, backed by this great, confidence-inspiring reserve, there would be, it is argued, no "run" on the $8,000,000,000 bank.

Most, if not all of the gold, would remain in holes in the American ground. And the terrible process which is sacking the economy of the whole Western World into bits would be reversed.

SO RUNS the argument. Whether or not this scheme provides a real way out (and to the layman it sounds too neat, too painless), neither this nor any other really bold attack on the crisis is likely to be proposed by Cripps when he comes to Washington next month. This is partly because the British planners are tired and lack their old confidence, and partly because Cripps knows that Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder, and the conservative bankers for whom he speaks, would boil with righteous indignation if he proposed anything really far-reaching or unconventional.

Meanwhile, the facts to bear in mind are these. If nothing is done, it is wholly likely that by this time next year the entire economy of the sterling area will have begun to disintegrate. If this happens, the collapse of Britain as a world power will be inevitable. And if this happens also, the United States will be able to halt Soviet expansion in Europe and Asia in only one way—by going to war. This would be a high price to pay in the end for the luxury of doing nothing now.

When a government attempts to redistribute to the citizens more than the citizens can produce, inflation and dictatorship are the inevitable result. —Rep. John Davis (R) of Connecticut.

Eruption, Or Just A Lot Of Smoke?

B.C.N. Is Not Forgotten

BEN NICHOLAS, under whom I worked when he was editor of the Victoria Times, was the only complete democrat I ever knew," declares Bruce Hutchison, associate editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, in the September Reader's Digest. Hutchison's eulogy of Nicholas is the Digest's "Most Unforgettable Character," a monthly feature of the magazine.

ESSENTIAL PRINCIPLE

"Ben had grasped instinctively," the author says, "the essential principle which America is in danger of losing—the bigness of small things and small people. He stood against the world for the local town, the familiar street, the folks next door. That he is forgotten by the public is no matter. He deliberately chose obscurity, regarding fame and fortune with the contempt of a small boy asked to leave a baseball game to attend the opera."

Born in Virginia City, Nevada, the son of a Cornish miner, Ben was taken to Victoria when a child. His formal education never went beyond the local schools.

"A man seldom has time for college if he's going to be educated," he once remarked.

LEARNED POLITICS

From his cub reporter's job Ben went to Ottawa for seven years as secretary to the Times' publisher when the latter was a member of the federal cabinet. There Ben learned politics and, thus equipped, became editor of the Times on his return to Victoria.

Worshipping "some curious, personal God," Ben jeered at organized religion, yet often preached in local churches and was acknowledged to be one of Canada's best public speakers.

Full of charity to everyone, he nevertheless loved to puncture political stuffed shirts. "Politics," he held, "is the art of the possible after you've gotten elected by promising the impossible."

Insisting that his newspaper's duty was to publish every police-court trial, no matter who was involved, Ben held to his conviction when a publisher of his paper was arrested for embezzlement. The story ran on the front page.

WRITING CREDO

Ben summarized his writing credo for his reporters: "Know what you mean and write it so others will know." His own editorials were "learned and documented pieces," Hutchison states, "pungent with literary flavor and packed with history."

Alberta Turns A New Page

From the Bank of Nova Scotia Monthly Review

IN THE short space of two years Canada's oil outlook has been transformed. In early 1947 the bulk of her modest production of crude oil, which was equivalent to less than 10 per cent of requirements, was from the declining Turner Valley field.

No large finds had been made since Turner Valley came to the fore in the '30s. The search for oil, of course, had never ceased, but rewards had been small, and Canada appeared destined to remain insignificant as a producer.

MAJOR DRAIN

She faced the prospect of continuing to supply 90 per cent or more of her oil needs through imports, which recently have been costing from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 annually and which constitute one of the major drains on her U.S. dollar resources.

Then, on Feb. 13, 1948, the discovery well at Leduc, Alberta, "blew in" and a new era began in Canadian oil history. The development that has taken place since that time is without parallel in Canadian experience, though across the border it is an old story.

Many millions of acres have been placed under oil permit or lease. Geologists have become important and sought-after figures—a far cry from the early days of the search for oil in the eastern United States when oil men contemptuously referred to them as "rock hounds."

Seismograph crews with all the complicated equipment of modern geophysics have fanned out over the province. Long-legged oil derricks have risen in increasing numbers among prairie wheat fields. More than 700 miles of holes have been drilled deep into the earth in the search for the liquid treasure stored in ancient rocks that were once seas alive with minute sea-organisms which have been transformed over the centuries into petroleum, literally "rock oil."

TWICE AS MANY

Today Alberta has some $60 producing oil wells—over twice as many as in early 1947. Nearly a dozen new oil pools have been discovered, of which at least two, Leduc-Woodhead and Redwater, are now established as major fields. Though output from the new wells is sharply restricted because it has outstripped available markets, Canadian oil production has tripled as compared with two years ago. With that production might shortly be as much as 100,000 barrels a day, equivalent to about a third of Canadian requirements.

To assure a sustained rate of production large enough to take care of total Canadian needs, "proved" reserves of at least two and a half to three billion barrels would be necessary.

Proved reserves in Alberta are now estimated at something less than a billion barrels. How much oil will eventually be found is, of course, merely a guess. The one great certainty about prospecting for oil is the uncertainty of where or in what quantities it will be found. But geologists now talk of Alberta as possibly one of the world's major oil areas.

Its geological formations, they point out, are similar to those of many highly productive regions in the United States. Its area is nearly as large as that of Texas, the greatest of the oil states, which has proved reserves of 14,000,000,000 barrels, and considerably larger than that of California, the second producer, with proved reserves of 3,500,000,000 barrels.

FIVE BILLION

In short, competent opinion considers it a not unreasonable guess that at least 5,000,000,000 barrels of oil may be found in Alberta in the near future.

Should Canada's output increase to the level of her present consumption of around 110,000,000 barrels a year, and should reserves of the size indicated above materialize, Canada would become one of the world's big producing areas.

Always Another Year

New York Times

YOU ought to see it next year." No other human beings believe as firmly in the curative powers of the future as gardeners. By next winter, when new plans are made, the drought and the heat of this summer will be forgotten.

In spite of the perfection of flower shows, where everything in the beds is carefully placed for size and color (and grows in pots concealed beneath peat moss), the perfect perennial bed is like most forms of perfection on this earth—something worth working toward, with little hope of achievement.

The perfect garden does exist, on paper in winter, in the eye of the owner in summer. He knows what he wants it to look like and he knows what it will some day look like if wind, sun, rain, bugs, blight and field mice will only co-operate. His fun is in trying to bring it about each successive year, in remembering the triumphs of the season before and in forgetting the flaws in the green hope for the year to come. It all may be self-deception, but it is harmless. That explains the gardener's unvarying remark: "You ought to see it next week, next month, or next year."

The friend-of-ours-who-has-no-use-for-gardeners dismisses them all. "They have made their perennial bed," he says. "Let them lie in it."

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

TWO young English brothers have exemplified the heroic dreams of lads the world over by crossing the Atlantic—2,700 miles of lonely, tumbling seas—in a homemade, 20-foot sailboat.

It is fitting that this dangerous undertaking should have been achieved by adventurers bearing the universal tag of Smith.

Naturally the home press has seized on this expedition of Stanley and Colin Smith, who sailed from Dartmouth, N.S., to demonstrate the thesis that British character remains as it always was, despite the economic and political storm which the country now is experiencing. The London Daily Mail says:

"The two Smiths stand as types which prove there is still nothing wrong with the British breed. . . . Britain may be down but she is not out. Governments come and go but the men and women of the country remain. . . . They will fight and beat adversity."

The London News Chronicle, in an obvious reference to the Socialism which now rules England, says that "security may beckon to a disillusioned generation, but there is no reason to think that courage and skill are dwindling virtues in this modern world." The London Daily Graphic cites the brothers' achievement in stressing the value of individualism as against state-controlled lives.

THE ARGUMENTS

Well, is the London press right? Does Britain still retain that private initiative which made her great, or is she abandoning individualism for the cradle-to-grave security promised by a paternalistic Socialism? That's a problem which the people of John Bull's island are trying to iron out in their harassed minds right now as they struggle with a fierce economic crisis whose end no man can foresee clearly.

A general election to select a new Parliament is due to take place not later than next summer. Is Britain's first Socialist government capable of handling this crisis, or must the country return to the free enterprise sponsored by the Conservative Party under which the war was fought?

TOURIST ATTRACTION

Windsor Star
Montreal has prepared a by-law to ban sun dresses which reveal bare shoulders and mid-ribs, and also shorts or other scanty apparel. If the modern trend continues elsewhere on the continent, and Montreal holds to its ban, it should become quite a tourist centre. People will go there from all parts of America to see its quaintly dressed women.

DOWN WITH IT

Edmonton Journal
An old and half-forgotten acquaintance appeared briefly in the news last week, with the report that the Chinese Communist government is trying to ban the game of Mah Jong in its territory.

The Encyclopedia Britannica, in a learned article on Mah Jong, attributes its eclipse to the coming of crossword puzzles. Others have blamed contract bridge, which made its appearance about that time. Many Chinese, on the other hand, are convinced that the Occidental mind just wasn't equal to the strain of such an intellectual pastime.

Mah Jong has continued to flourish in China since the 12th century. The reason given for the present suppression order is that it is a time waster. It is that—but the Reds may find that they can't stop people wasting their own time.

WISE ACTION

London (Ont.) Free Press
Defeat of the attempt to convert the Marshall Plan into a vast dumping project is a victory for men of broad outlook in the United States. Had Senator McClellan's bill to earmark a major part of the E.C.A. funds for the purchase of American surplus farm crops gone through it would have done much to justify the Russian charge that the Marshall Plan is designed for American rather than European relief.

Sensible Americans realize that they have a real stake in the recovery of Europe and that it would be foolish to imperil this for immediate selfish gains. But there is a basic difficulty which must sometime be faced. It is that the working of the Marshall Plan so far has in some cases tended to limit rather than increase the market for American goods. Whether this can continue should conditions tighten in the U.S. is a ticklish problem.

When the curtain closes Saturday night on "Song of Norway," the Starlight Theatre's brief season will have come to an end. But for thousands of fortunate Victorians, having seen this most modern and beautiful operetta, Starlight Theatre will become a beloved institution, its worth to the community proven absolutely by this one production alone.

"Song of Norway" opened Thursday night before a record crowd in the Memorial Arena. When Wright, Forrest and Lazarus collaborated over the music, life and love of Edvard Grieg, they called into play every magic known to the theatre. From the gay, flaring color and sturdy rhythm of "Norwegian Dance" in the opening scenes to the final ballet that interprets the haunting first movement of the A minor Concerto, there is no lack of imagination, color or musical charm.

As to the production itself, there is a wonderful uniformity and balance all through. Good chorus singing and dazzling costumes.

Nearly 50 members of the Sons of Norway, Victoria branch, 20 of them in national costume, were at the Memorial Arena Thursday evening to greet the cast of "Song of Norway" at the opening performance. Here three Victorians from the lodge welcome Ralph Magelssen, who took the role of Norway's gifted composer, Edvard Grieg. Left to right: Joan Nicholson, Mr. Magelssen, Helen Stenseth and Odd Watson.

in the role, Doreen Wilson, made the prima donna a glittering, intoxicating personality. She is the perfect mistress of the subtle art of innuendo, of delicate "pointing" and precise timing, and she moves about the stage with fluid grace. Her strong, musical soprano voice was happy at all times, one of her loveliest numbers being "Three Loves," taken from "Albumblatt" and "Poem Erotik."

Two other former Victorians were Walter Burgess, who combined the lightness of thistle-down with the spirit of a faun in the whimsical dance, "Freddy and His Fiddle," and Fraser Lister who supplied most of the comedy in an appropriate key and with his usual buoyancy and charm.

Among the most satisfying moments is the music the opera provides for Nina, Grieg's cousin and sweetheart; and it is difficult to imagine a more lovely voice than Carolyn Long's to do the singing. There is a moving warmth, a golden richness in her soprano notes and her velvety mezzo that made "Ich Liebe Dich" and "Strange Music" unforgettable.

Tall, handsome Richard Charles is back after a first appearance in "Merry Widow," singing with stirring artistry the concerto themes and the poignant "Nordraak's Farewell."

A GOOD GRIEG

Ralph Magelssen's Edvard Grieg was not only a role beautifully sung but in its interpretation was well developed and deeply understood. Mr. Magelssen has toured for a year in this part and he brings to it a voice of outstanding beauty and power. The ensemble work between the four principals was noticeably good.

Once more the quality of the acting was considerably above average. E. V. Young, William Buckingham and Babs Hitchman were excellent, and Paul Klugman in a brilliant little scene with Miss Wilson drew top honors. All the "bit" parts, particularly Vera Bryson and Al Pearce, were well handled.

Key Farmer, Lois Smith, David Adams and Walter Burgess were the delightful principal dancers in the concluding scene, softly atmospheric in background and lighting, in which Grieg creates his "Song of Norway."

Playing the concerto, Estelle Tucker gave a brilliant performance, only slightly marred by the public address system.

Welcomed back also was Basil Horsfall, another ex-Victorian, who conducted the performance with all his remembered fire and comprehension.

Prominent among the operetta's performers is former Victoria singer, Doreen Wilson, shown here in costume. Miss Wilson, a soprano, appeared as Louisa Giovanni, a role she has sung on Broadway and on tour for more than a year.

Movie To Teach U.S. Facts About Canada

NEW YORK (CP)—Canada is depicted as a land of opportunity and limitless possibilities in the latest motion-picture series, "This Is America" to be released next week.

The 18-minute (RKO) short, titled "Canada Unlimited," reveals facts about Canada which are little known in the United States. Among them are:

1. Canada turns out enough paper for four out of every five pages printed in the United States.
2. She produces enough wheat to feed 92,000,000 people or seven times her own population.
3. The arrival of displaced persons in Canada has resulted in the founding of 85 new industries, which have added millions of dollars to Canadian economy. The film is aimed at making the Dominion familiar to Americans.

Long-Lost Plane Found On Mt. Hood

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Deep snows of Mount Hood yielded the scattered fragments Thursday of an air force plane that vanished four months ago with two colonels and a sergeant aboard.

The B26, which disappeared April 21, had been hidden from searches by the heaviest snows in Mount Hood history.

A search and rescue party went to Timberline Lodge on the mountain, to remove the bodies this morning.

Members of Victoria University Women's Club who will attend the triennial conference in Vancouver include, left to right, Mrs. H. R. Turner, Mrs. K. O. Wright, president of the Victoria club; Mrs. J. B. Williams and Mrs. Norman Clark; seated, Mrs. Findly McKinnon.

University Women's Triennial

More than 500 delegates representing 62 clubs within the Canadian Federation of University Women from Victoria to Newfoundland, are gathering in Vancouver this week-end for a triennial convention in Brock Hall, University of British Columbia, commencing Monday and continuing for three days.

Mrs. K. O. Wright, president of the Victoria University Women's Club, Dr. Olga Jardine and Mrs. J. L. W. Price are official delegates from Victoria but other members of the local club also plan to attend.

Sessions, arranged around the pertinent theme, "The Challenge of Today and Tomorrow," will be convened by Mrs. R. B. Crumney, Vancouver, national leader.

A special guest for the session will be Dr. A. Vibert Douglas, president of the international federation, who is arriving by air from Copenhagen on Saturday.

Prior to flying to the Pacific Coast, Dr. Douglas presided at a council meeting of the world group in Copenhagen and will present to Canadian women latest information on European conditions, with special reference to the International Red Cross recommendation about care of civilians during wartime.

Dr. Douglas, first Canadian to be elected to this high position, is a brilliant scientist. A graduate of McGill, she is now dean of women at Queen's University.

The comprehensive three-day program is liberally spiced with party-going and receptions in honor of visiting delegates. Dinners, luncheons, boat cruises are but a few of the entertainments planned by the Vancouver branch. Mrs. Austin C. Taylor, and Mrs. Eric W. Hamber will be "first night" hostesses at the Georgian Club. A tea at the home of Mrs. Frank Ross will follow a scenic boat trip.

Chides U.S. Stage For Love Of Dollar

WASHINGTON (CP)—Elizabeth Bergner says United States theatre producers have a lot to learn from their European counterparts. Europeans love art for art's sake, the noted Austrian actress said at a press conference. She thinks United States producers care more for the "almighty dollar."

But Miss Bergner sees progress as far as the theatre-going public is concerned. "Americans haven't had much of a theatre," she said, "but more of a 'show business.' They even refer to the theatre as 'show business.'"

This "unhealthy" condition is changing, she added. The public gradually was being educated to the finer things of the theatre and now was mature enough to enjoy a play that does not have the traditional happy ending.

Meals For Oldsters

EAST ASHFORD, Kent, Eng. (CP)—A "meals on wheels" scheme will provide hot meals to old folk in this rural district. Organized by the Women's Voluntary Services, the meals will cost one shilling (20 cents) each.

No Bar To Women In Finance Field

NEW YORK (CP)—Just because your husband thinks you can't add two and two and doesn't mind telling you, don't let it prevent your becoming a stockholder, a banker, or anything else involving finance.

That's Lesley Frost's advice to women. "Women have been told so often by men that they are not intelligent about financial matters they've come to believe it!" she exclaims.

Miss Frost, a member of the Federation of Women Shareholders, has not inherited her financial background. She is the daughter of the poet, Robert Frost.

Tall, blue-eyed and slender, she has done everything in her life from working with an aircraft maintenance crew during the war to serving as a state department cultural officer in South America. At present she is a free-lance writer and lecturer.

Miss Frost thinks women should attend stockholders' meetings, thereby gaining a knowledge of the company in which they or their husbands have securities. They should also read stockholders' reports.

"Granted they're as dry as dust now," she laughs, "but we're trying to correct that by rewriting reports and urging companies to publish more readable reports."

ST. ALBANS, Hertfordshire, Eng. (CP)—St. Albans rural council has allocated a quarter of all council-built two-bedroom houses to married couples without children.

The ceremony was held Aug. 13 at 8 in Wilkinson Road United Church, with Rev. J. C. Thomson officiating.

Pink and white gladioli in tall baskets created the setting for the bride in her gown of transparent velvet made with sweet heart neckline, fitted bodice, lily point sleeves and full skirt fashioned with lengthy trail.

A halo of seed pearls held the floor-length veil, and the bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her groom's gift, a five-strand pearl necklace.

Her bouquet of Talisman roses was similar to that carried by her mother on her wedding day.

Maid of honor, Miss Evelyn Jorgensen, sister of the bride, wore a gown of mauve net with brocade satin bodice. She had elbow-length gloves and crownless picture hat and carried pale yellow gladioli.

John E. Smith was best man. Charles Smith and Rae Paterson ushered.

Seamen's Institute Hall was the scene of the reception where Rev. Thomson gave the toast to the bride. A lace-edged cloth, made by the bride's mother, covered the table, set with a three-tier cake.

The bride changed to a pearl grey gabardine suit, grey accessories and corsage bouquet of roses for traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home at Wilkinson Road.

To Resume Mission Work In Japan Schools

Eager to return to her "life's work" as kindergarten teacher and supervisor under the Church of Christ in Japan, is Miss Fern Scruton, who arrived in the city yesterday accompanied by her sister, Miss Myra Scruton, on a one-day stop over, en route to Japan.

For 14 years, the Orient was home to this pleasant Ontario-born woman.

She learned the Japanese language, after three years of extensive study, and as she learned the language she also learned to know the people.

"Working with Christians in Japan is the same as working with Christians in Canada, Europe, England—they have the same ideals and aims," she states.

When she was evacuated from Japan in 1941, her heart remained with the wee Japanese youngsters and her thoughts with her mission work, as supervisor of schools in a large area near Tokyo.

She returned to Canada, and the following year was sent by the United Church of Canada mission board to Trinidad. There her mission was to start a kindergarten, the first of its kind established there, where she taught mission work.

Having accomplished her aim, Miss Scruton returned from Trinidad last December.

Because of her vast experience and her knowledge of the language and of the people Miss Scruton has been chosen by the mission board to return to Japan to take on the huge task of instructing kindergarten teachers.

"I feel that training teachers to be Christian leaders is a most necessary and constructive work," she tells you.

Miss Scruton left last evening for Vancouver, where she will visit friends.

Next week she will go to Seattle, where she will be joined by Miss Wilna Thomas of Toronto, who will sail with her aboard the freighter "China Mail," for Japan.

Miss Thomas, a well-known visitor to this city, came from Toronto in July to see her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thomas, Cedar Hill Road. She served with the C.W.A.C. during war years, and has always been interested in mission work.

She plans to teach in a girls' school in Tokyo, under the main in the city for several days, the guest of Mrs. R. A. Davis, 248 Douglas Street.

Bible Quiz—Mrs. A. J. Perry lead an interesting Bible quiz at a business meeting of the Flora Cogswell Group, Emmanuel Baptist Church, held at the home of Mrs. W. L. McKay, 1330 Johnson Street, recently. Humorous recitations by members of the group were given and refreshments served. President Mrs. A. Pinkerton presided at the meeting and Secretary Mrs. J. G. Griffiths read minutes of two previous meetings. A new member, Mrs. G. B. Sutherland was welcomed. It was announced that the missionary budget was progressing favorably and the meeting honored the memory of a valued member, the late Mrs. S. Gulliford.

Today's Recipe

SALMON CRISP

Here's a meal mainstay you'll like to use on days when you want to get out of the kitchen quickly. It's tempting, crisp and creamy all at once—a dish you can start and finish in about a half hour.

One quarter cup milk, one 10-ounce tin condensed cream of mushroom soup, 2 cups corn flakes, 1 pound tin pink salmon. Heat oven to 350 degrees F. (moderate). Mix milk and soup well.

Place half the corn flakes in a greased one quart casserole. Break salmon in chunks and add half of it; pour on half the soup mixture. Repeat layers, reserving half the corn flakes; sprinkle corn flakes on top. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Makes four generous servings.

You may like to have this for dinner with stuffed tomato salad, corn on the cob, pineapple chiffon cake, milk and coffee.

When Loues, a Greek peasant, won the first Olympic marathon, his reception was so great that women threw jewelry at his feet.

In Step With Style

By MARGUERITE DALZIEL

"Hats are smarter than ever" was the delighted comment of the proprietor of a mid-town millinery shop, as she paused for a few minutes earlier this week in the fascinating task of unpacking her latest shipments.

"This season's hats show many a new trend and from the looks of the last shipments I've received, there is a model to meet the demand of every woman," she added with a happy smile.

After chatting with her for a brief while I gathered that the days when one tramped doggedly from shop to shop vainly searching for a hat with that certain "something" that made you feel as if it had been made for you personally, are but a thing of the past. Both quantity and quality are now available.

I had thought I was doing my fall hat shopping early but it seems that for more than a month women have been buying chapeaux to complement new fall wardrobes.

Black is the perennial favorite. But colors are now coming into their own.

Especially popular are burnt almond, chateaux, any numbers of browns (particularly cinnamon and cocoa), wines, greens and blues.

COMBINE COLORS

One of the newer trends is the attractive combining of color tones.

For example, with her chocolate brown suit, the well-dressed woman instead of choosing a solid brown hat, is wearing a closely fitted felt hat in contrasting beige, faced with the deeper brown in duvetyne—a soft plush-like material.

This provides a smart contrast especially if gloves and blouse are in toning shades.

Other attractive combinations are chartreuse and leaf green, tones of blue and grey, rich rusts and amber.

For the young set, snappy bowlers and cloches have taken on a fall look, in fur felts, with gay two-tone trims. While with her suit of afternoon dress, the matron will wear small head-hugging hats.

Feathers and quills are still good this season and I find better quality hats are lower in price with the exception of wool felts.

A small note for those who rave about New York styles and complain that "we're so far behind." I've been informed that Canadian designers attend all the large style showings, and return with the most fashionable and popular designs, which are then manufactured in Canada.

Preview of a fall fashion set, is the head-hugging hat shown above. The smart polka-dot trim is repeated on her umbrella-cane, equally smart for the coming season.

"Button, button, whose got the button?" That question won't be hard to answer for women buying fall suits.

Large and small, and in a host of fascinating shapes, gold, silver, and covered—buttons are in the limelight.

They march proudly down the centre-fronts of otherwise perfectly plain suits. They form trim rows on sleeves, collars, shoulderlines, pockets, and even simulate pockets.

Femininity was the keynote of several suits I saw fresh from their packing cases on Tuesday. Jackets were slightly below fingertip-length. Shoulder interest was created with exaggerated lapels pleated to the shoulder seam, and triple rows of false pocket flaps. Several had jackets buttoned from top to bottom.

Skirts are pencil slim again, with only the slightest slit either in front or back.

All were of fine Barathes cloth.

Fur Is the Fashion—Moulton lamb, Japanese mink, and Persian lamb, are among a wide selection of furs adding a luxurious note to slender-waisted, full-skirted autumn coats.

A wide, deep collar of moulton lamb fur, soft and gleaming grey toning into rich brown, adorned a deep plum colored coat in finest English broadcloth; sleeves were wide, the waist nipped in and the skirt full and flared.

A slender band of squirrel fur outlined a deep sailor collar on a full-backed model. Neckline was simply-styled, and back-fullness created with several full-length gores.

New Touch Missed In London Styles In Fall Garments

LONDON (CP) — London's "Big Ten" designers—the "First Eleven" since Michael Sherard was added—displayed fur-trimmed fall styles to audiences wiling in one of London's infrequent heat waves.

And while overseas buyers didn't mind the heat much, they were disappointed in the styles they saw.

Lawrence Marcus of Dallas, Tex., exclaimed "Britain wants me to buy the clothes she likes—not the clothes I like."

A Canadian visitor found the British offerings "not the sort of styles to capture the Canadian market."

"At the price those will sell for back home, our women want something with a difference," she said. "The line is good, the tailoring perfect, but they so seldom have that 'something'."

The main trouble seemed to be that there was nothing really new. Skirts were shorter, sometimes almost imperceptibly, sometimes very noticeably. The uneven hemline was popular in afternoon and evening dresses, but the accent remained essentially unchanged.

Necklines plunge daringly, sometimes to nearly waistlength, other times taking an asymmetrical slant, and the eggshell line of last season's little hats is repeated in this season's uneven necklines.

The tube look continues with loose panels and drapery to soften the line. There is often hip gathering on one or both sides, but falling in soft folds from a clean waistline without emphasis.

Pockets are important. Some coats and suits have "poacher" pockets—rather like pochette handbags. Sometimes a series of four is used—two small, two large.

The most important trimming is fur and is used with sumptuous effect on velvet town coats presented by Norman Hartnell.

Fur trimmings are mostly detachable to give an all-purpose garment and to avoid the luxury tax the four would bring.

Colors are generally sombre—"ambiguous" and mysterious tones," as Worth calls them. There is a great deal of grey and black, and browns run from beige through coffee, denkey and tobacco to chocolate.

When color is used, it's often the true shade of vegetables. "Angry Answer" is a vivacious tomato red without a hint of blue in it. There are spinach green, dull raspberry pinks and plum shades, a deep wood-green and the bronze of autumn leaves with many golds and nut browns.

to do it for him. But if it is his future well-being she thinks important, then she must school herself to let him muddle through.

She must keep in mind, though, that she cannot saddle the child with decisions too important for him. There are some things the mother must decide, if the child's health, physical or moral, is at stake. No mother allows her child to jump out of the window just to prove to him that he will be hurt. Neither does she allow him to decide about acts which in her wisdom and experience she knows to be wrong.

But, the managerial mother who moves her children about as if they were pawns can thank herself if her children grow up to be weaklings who never have the courage to make up their own minds, for fear they may make a mistake.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: I am an old maid, 59, tired of teaching and living alone. I am sure there is someone somewhere that I could make very happy, but I have no opportunity to meet people. Do you think I am too old to be a traveling companion? Can you suggest something other than contentment, which is impossible in my situation?

AMBITIOUS STILL

Answer: I am afraid not. Most of us have seen our visions of what we would like fade in the thin air and content ourselves with our lots. It is a tragedy for you and for the unknown man that you will never meet. There are so many men who need good wives and so many women who could make them so happy, and there is no way to bring them together.

Certainly you are not too old to be a traveling companion, but I am afraid there would be very little chance of getting such a job.

DOROTHY DIX

After play snacks are an important part of a child's meals. These should be planned as carefully as the other three meals. A glass of chilled apricot whole fruit nectar and a couple of graham crackers will curb his ravenous hunger and yet not spoil his appetite for dinner.

Children need a nutritious noon-time meal. A hot soup, a canned cling peach and cottage cheese salad with cookies and milk for dessert will send them bounding back to play with plenty of energy to carry them through the afternoon's activities.

A bride-elect of the near future, Miss Pat Dalby, was honored when her aunt, Mrs. C. F. Banfield, 642 Craigflower Road, and cousin, Mrs. C. H. Shandley, were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at the Banfield home, Thursday evening. A wishing well was piled high with gifts, and the bride-to-be of Mr. H. E. Bonner, received a corsage bouquet of pink roses and heather. Mothers of the affianced couple, Mrs. R. S. Dalby and Mrs. B. R. Bonner were presented with corsage bouquets of pink carnations. Pink and blue summer flowers decorated the reception room, and were repeated on the table centerpiece, with tall white candles in pink holders. Games were arranged by Mrs. C. E. Banfield, and other guests were Messames A. Crewe, W. Marshall, W. Carter, R. M. Elliott, M. H. Barry, E. Turkington, L. F. Shandley, H. Flinn, F. Crocker, A. Flucke, J. Dalby, A. Dalby, G. Dalby, L. Most of us know that among fruits, it is oranges, grapefruit, and pineapple that are good sources of vitamin C. But how many of us realize that among vegetables it is parsley, broccoli, cauliflower, kale, kohlrabi and spinach that are the good vitamin C sources?

Children never seem to tire of peanut butter sandwiches. To fancy them up a little combine equal parts of peanut butter, raisins and celery with salt to taste and enough mayonnaise to give a good spreading consistency. Spread between slices of buttered bread.

SECOND LEAD IS CLUE TO SUCCESS

During the war the bridge players of the U.S. started the project known as War Orphans Scholarships Inc. Each year the problem of the American war orphan becomes greater.

Each year the colleges hold their own intercollegiate national bridge tournaments, and many of these groups have become interested in the scholarship work.

Geoffrey Mott-Smith, who is the director of the intercollegiate matches, said that today's hand resulted in a tremendous swing, many pairs being "wrecked on the rocks of distribution."

Most of the North players opened the bidding with a pre-emptive three-spade bid, which East doubled. Now East and West took an active part in the bidding until either North or South, thinking that they were taking a sacrifice or that they might make the contract, went to six spades.

The ace of hearts was opened, and then if East shifted to the ace of diamonds, he got the eight-spot from West. So a diamond was continued, won by West, and East was given a heart ruff.

At a few tables East tried to cash the ace of clubs, after the ace of hearts opening. Of course, North ruffed the ace of clubs, then picked up the trumps and all his hearts were good. These players made six spades, doubled for a plus score of 1,660, or a swing of 2,460 points on the hand.

W.P.T.B. Charge

Myren, 870 Phoenix Street, Esquimalt, appeared in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon and had a charge read against her alleging an offence of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board leasehold regulations. She was remanded to Aug. 23 for trial. J. A. Byers is Crown counsel. The charge concerns the house at 500 Obed Avenue.

Longden Rides Abroad

By FRED HAYDEN
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Johnny Longden, reputed to be the wealthiest jockey in the business, leaves tomorrow for his native England and hopes to do some riding there.

Born in Wakefield, England, in 1910, Longden hasn't been there since his parents brought him to Canada at the age of two. Johnny was raised in Taber, Alta.

Longden and his wife leave tomorrow from New York on the Queen Elizabeth.

The Longdens flew from California to New York then took a plane here for last night's annual New York turf writers' dinner.

Longden said: "Just going over for a vacation but I'd like to do some riding abroad and Mr. Cassidy (executive secretary of the Jockey Club in New York) gave me a letter of recommendation to authorities over there."

TED'S YEAR

A year ago, Longden was honored at the turf writers' dinner for his splendid riding the previous year, 1947. Johnny also led the national jockey list last year and in 1938.

At last night's dinner, Ted Atkinson, the Toronto booter, who was third to Longden and Clarence Picou last year, was honored by the scribes.

Others receiving plaques for their contributions to racing last year were George D. Widener, president of Belmont Park, and Marshall Cassidy of the Jockey Club, who were tied in votes for a special award; Warren Wright, master of Calumet Farm, outstanding breeder, and James P. Conway, trainer for Mr. and Mrs. Ben Whitaker.

SHORT HOLIDAY

After the visit abroad, Longden plans to fly back to California to resume riding there.

While in England, Longden will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given by Gordon Richards, the only jockey who has ridden more winners than Longden.

Three-Day Week Racing Plan For Longacres Track

SEATTLE (AP)—Racing will last all summer at Longacres next year but will be on a three-day-week basis, Joe Gottstein told horse owners Thursday.

In a clubhouse meeting before the start of yesterday's program, the president of the Washington Jockey Club said "we are taking a big loss this year" with five days of racing each week.

He said he expected to operate the track Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays next year, starting May 13 and running for 53 racing days through Labor Day. There are 54 racing days on the 1949 calendar.

There would be nine races each Friday and 10 on the Saturday and Sunday programs. No purse cuts were anticipated. He asked the owners to consider the plan and said the only alternative would be to cut purses.

Minimum purses at the track are $900. Top stake race of the year is the Longacres Mile, with a purse of $15,000 for 1949. Daily programs call for eight races now, with nine on Saturdays and Sundays.

Walker Cup Golf Matches Under Way

Frank Stranahan, left, and Willie Turnesa, right, are top United States defenders in the 12th Walker Cup matches that opened at the Winged Foot Club, Mamaroneck, N.Y., today. Max McCready, inset, one of four Irishmen on 10-man team representing Britain, defeated Stranahan and Turnesa on successive days to win the British Amateur title at Portmarnock, Ireland, in May.

Ottawa Announces Duck, Geese Seasons; Open On Island Oct. 15

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's duck hunters—nearly 500,000 of them—can start culling their shotguns and practicing their bird calls anytime now.

The Federal Wildlife Service last night released detailed regulations—season dates, bag limits and firearm restrictions—for this fall's duck and geese hunting.

The 8,000-word regulations are generally the same as they were last year. There are different season dates for nearly every section of the country. Violations can be punished by a fine of up to $300 and six months in jail.

The regulations were drawn up by agreement between Canada's 10 provinces, the federal authorities and the United States.

They prohibit anything larger than a 10-gauge shotgun and every province but Saskatchewan bans the use of automatic guns holding more than two cartridges. Saskatchewan permits guns holding three shells.

That regulation was introduced for the first time last year, before that, authorities said, hunters could empty a magazine into a flock of ducks, wounding many birds they never retrieved. The birds were simply left to die.

BAG LIMITS

In eastern provinces, hunters are allowed seven ducks and five geese per day. In the west they are allowed eight ducks and five geese.

But each province has varying regulations for seasonal limits.

Except in Newfoundland, no hunter may have more than 14 ducks and five geese a day or 100 ducks and 25 geese a season.

provinces—or 10 geese in his possession.

In other provinces, the season runs for four to six weeks.

British Columbia has various seasons. In the eastern district, north of the 56th parallel of latitude, the season will be from Sept. 1 to Oct. 30. In the eastern district, south of the 56th parallel and north of the Canadian National Railways main line, the season will be from Sept. 15 to Nov. 13.

In the area south of the railway line from Hope to Jasper, the season will be from Oct. 8 to Dec. 6.

In most of the western section of the province, including Vancouver Island, the season will be Oct. 15 to Nov. 12 to Jan. 10 for ducks, and Dec. 17 to Feb. 28 for geese.

The bag limits will be eight ducks and five geese a day or 100 ducks and 25 geese a season.

Salem Interests Anxious To Hold W.I.L. Baseball Club

SALEM (AP)—Suggestions on how to keep a Western International team here will be aired at a meeting called for next Wednesday at the Chamber of Commerce Hall.

The Salem Senators, owned by the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League, have been drawing poorly at the box office and the Beaver management recently talked of moving the franchise to another city.

Business manager William Mulligan of the Portland club and business manager George Emigh of the Senators will attend the meeting.

Several informal proposals for local purchase of the franchise have been made and the latest suggestion—strictly coffee-hour talk around town—is that Eugene interests buy the franchise and Salem fans buy the Bremerton club, which is up for sale. A Salem-Eugene rivalry might boost attendance, fans say.

Harrison Fires 65 For Tournament Lead

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—E. J. (Dutch) Harrison found the long Cascade Hills Country Club course to his liking Thursday as he shot a 65—seven under par—to grab the lead in the opening round of the 72-hole Grand Rapids Open golf tournament.

Harrison, shooting for $2,600 first prize money, held a one-stroke lead over Jim Ferrier of San Francisco who had a 66. Par for the course is 72.

Victoria United Holds First Practice Sunday

Hal Singleton, newly-appointed manager of the Victoria United Football Club has not taken long to get down to work.

Yesterday he made arrangements for the use of Macdonald Park as the club's training centre, and the first practice of the season will be held there on Sunday morning at 10.

Most of last season's players will again be on call, and it is hoped that before the beginning of the season next month several important acquisitions will be made. Singleton asks that any footballers who think they might be worthy of a try-out should present themselves at Macdonald Park on Sunday morning when they will receive a hearty welcome.

The players of Victoria United have expressed satisfaction at the directors' appointment of Singleton as their manager and this dressing-room harmony coupled with the new financial backing augurs well for the prospects of the side this season.

Denoni's Goal Gives Tillicums Thrilling Boxla Win Over Bays

Al Denoni, rambing defence-man for the Tillicums Lacrosse Club finished off a sensational comeback for his team last night when he scored on a sole effort at the 10.10 mark of the final period, giving the clubmen the lead for the first time in the game at 12 to 11. Roy Lawrence added an insurance goal and the T.A.C. went one game up in their best three out of five series with Foul Bay for the city championship.

Coach Arnold Ferguson's charges had to come from away back to knock off the Bays. They looked like a beaten team, and were virtually hanging on the ropes after being seven goals down well on into the third quarter.

The district boys were coasting along on an 11 to 4 lead and had the game well in hand. Time and time again they shook loose from their fast breaks and capitalized on a weak defence to move ahead, 4 to 1, at the end of the initial period. An oddy in the first stanza happened when neither goal was credited with a stop of a shot on goal.

8 TO 4 AT HALF

Tillicums were outscored again in the next session, 4 to 3, to go behind at the half-time breather, 8 to 4.

The second half started off with the style of play being pretty much the same. Coach Ed McKim kept his team driving and they added three more counters to look like odds-on favorites. But a fight that broke out between Gordy Bamford and Don Thomas seemed to clear the air, and someone must have given the Tillicums "needles," because from here on in they looked like frightened two-year-old colts.

Bamford of T.A.C. and Thomas of the Bays were given five minutes apiece, and Thomas received an additional two minutes for a high check.

Norm Coates and Ed Popham combined to pick up three quick goals within a space of 40 seconds. Coates blew two past Thompson in the Foul Bay nets and Popham scored the odd one, and assisted on one of Coates' markers.

Bob Aitken of the Foul Bay team was thumbed off for two minutes leaving the club two men short. Tillicums who are great ones to take advantage of an opportunity, didn't wait long to catch on to this one, and pumped in a couple more before the period ended. They had closed the gap by five goals.

SCORE TIED

Art Green scored a pretty goal after being set up by Denoni to pick up goal number 10 for the T.A.C. Ed Popham did a carbon copy of Green's tally from a pass off Red Mason's stick and the game was all tied up at 11 goals apiece.

Al Denoni brought the house down with his team's eighth goal in a row and the Tillicums went ahead 12 to 11 for the first time. Lawrence and the hardest working player on the floor, Don Henderson, combined to score number 13 for the winners, and they ragged the ball up to the final whistle, to walk off with a spectacular 13 to 11 win.

Australian Pick-Up Pair Pulls Major Upset At U.S. Tennis Meet

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UP)—America's 10-year domination of the men's division in the national doubles tennis championships was threatened today by a pair of Australian teams.

The lesser-known Aussie team already whipped the top United States pair of Gardner Mulloy, Miami, and Billy Talbert, New York City, and their court-wise countrymen, Jack Bromwich and Billy Sidwell, were heavy favorites to join them today in the semifinals.

Defending champions Mulloy and Talbert, bidding to tie the all-time record of five national titles, were defeated in the season's most surprising upset yesterday by Australia's pickup pair of Frank Sedgman and George Worthington.

The youthful Aussies stunned a tennis gallery of 3,500 at Longwood Cricket Club by eliminating the champions, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5, 9-7.

But Australia still didn't consider Sedgman and Worthington its best team. Australian working player Cliff Sproule said it wouldn't represent the land down under in the Davis Cup finals against the United States at Forest Hills, N.Y.

LACK EXPERIENCE

Too inexperienced for Davis Cup competition, Sproule said. He announced he will rely on Sedgman and the two-handed hitting Bromwich as Australia's doubles combine.

The United States still will stake its cup defense chances on Mulloy and Talbert in the doubles according to non-playing captain Alrick Man. He attributed Mulloy's poor showing to staleness. Two of the four breaks in Mulloy's service decided the final two sets in the Australians' favor.

Tennis observers believe it well could be an all-Australian final in the men's division of the national doubles as it was in 1939 when Bromwich and Adrian Quist defeated Jack Crawford and Harry Hopman.

Top foreign seeds Bromwich and Sidwell were expected to gain the semifinals at the expense of the South African pair of Eric Sturges and Eustance Fannin, fifth in the foreign listings.

Athletics Come From Behind For Victory

By BILL WALKER

SPOKANE—Victoria Athletics reversed the procedure against Spokane Indians Thursday night by spotting the Tribe an early lead and then coming from behind to score a 7 to 5 victory in the final scheduled W.I.L. game between the two clubs.

Chunky Tobey Tobias, though relieved in the seventh inning when the Indians threatened to again stage one of their last ditch rallies, hurled good ball for the A's and the five Spokane runs scored in the first three innings were of the cheap variety.

Trailing 5 to 0 entering the fourth frame as the Indians had put together four hits for three runs in the first inning and two runs on two infield hits and Paul Zaby's line single in the third, the A's knotted the count with one tally in the fourth and four in the fifth.

Ray Jacobs singled home Joe Morjoseph, who had doubled, with the first Victoria run in the fourth.

KIMBALL GOES OUT

Then in the fifth the A's chased starter Ken Kimball from the hill. Gordon Johnston started the rally by drawing a base on balls. Vic Buccola also walked on four straight pitches. John Hack singled, scoring Johnston and Gil McDougal followed with a double to score Buccola and Hack. Len Noren grounded a single into left field to push McDougal across with the tying marker.

The A's broke the tie in the top of the Victoria Dancer To Join San Francisco Ballet Co.

Opportunity knocks but once, is an old adage.

For Walter Burgess, 23-year-old Victoria ballet dancer, opportunity has knocked at his door with an invitation to join the San Francisco Ballet Company as a start in his dancing career.

The young man, rated by many critics as one of the best dancers on the West Coast and who has been appearing with Victoria's Theatre Foundation's Starlight Theatre here, will leave for San Francisco at the end of August.

"I'm certainly lucky," said Mr. Burgess when he was informed that the ballet company had accepted him. "This may be just the beginning I've been waiting for. It may lead to other things."

A dancing career was not an easy one, according to Mr. Burgess, who has been dancing since the age of eight. "It's work and practice all the time."

As a schoolboy, Mr. Burgess performed at the Highland and Caledonian Games in Victoria and Vancouver. He was considered one of the best Highland dancers as a youth.

While an exponent of Scottish dances, Mr. Burgess claims Highland dances and ballet do not mix.

DIFFERENT TECHNIQUE

He advises anyone aspiring to become a ballet dancer not to take up Scottish dances, because of the big differences in techniques. "You get all muddled up when you take up ballet dancing," he said. "In Scottish dances you use the balls of your feet."

This is Mr. Burgess' second year with Victoria's Starlight Theatre. He has been featured with the Vancouver's Theatre

Under the Stars for the past three seasons.

He has been teaching the art of dancing at the British Columbia Institute of Music and Drama in Vancouver during the past year.

He has been teaching Scottish dances, though he is equally well versed in ballet dancing.

Mr. Burgess also took part in the annual Canadian Ballet Festival in Toronto last year. He was also featured in "Degas Rehearsal," Marc McMorrey's classic ballet, which was presented in Vancouver with the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra.

When asked why he took up ballet dancing, Mr. Burgess said that at first he thought it was "silly," but as time went on he began to appreciate ballet dancing. "It is one of the best forms of expression," he said, "but it is not an easy one to learn."

Those who will see the current "Song of Norway" will see Burgess appear as Freddy in the famous "Freddie and His Fiddle" routine, in "The Chocolate Shop" ballet and in the classic ballet where he portrays the poet in the grand finale which features Greig's piano Concerto.

Cosmopolitan Club members Thursday night decided to hold charter night in the Sirocco Club Oct. 7.

Future meetings will be held, starting on Aug. 25, at the Sirocco Club "Peacock Room," commencing at 6.30.

Tony McManus was chosen club president for charter night. In the field of sport, the Cosmo Ulcers were defeated for the second time by the Y.M.C.A. Phalanx. A challenge was issued to the Phalanx for a bowling game at the Bowladrome Aug. 29 at 7.30.

Membership in the Cosmopolitan Club now numbers 72.

MAJOR WRECKING BEGINS SOON—Nearly completed hoarding surrounding the site of the new $2,000,000 Dominion Post Office means that outside demolition work, halted Aug. 5 when city building inspector J. W. Oosterink issued a stop-work order against the wreckers until the hoarding was completed, probably will begin early next week.

Two Young Woodmen Fined For Getting Money Falsely

"Your business ethics are not very complimentary to you," said Magistrate A. I. Thomas to two young men he found guilty on a joint charge of obtaining $9 by false pretenses. He fined them $12.50 each.

The two accused were Howard J. Minnings, 2524 Wark Street, and Jack Hansen, Lorne Hotel, Room 31.

Mrs. Avis Robinson, 24 Hampton Road, told the court that on July 29 the two men came to her home with a load of wood and that she paid them $9. Witness said the two accused said her husband had ordered it and that they were to get the money from her.

Donald M. Robinson, the husband, however, said he did not order wood from Minnings and Hansen and had not asked them to deliver it and get the money from his wife.

Minnings, in the witness box, said they had met Robinson in a coffee shop and had told him they would bring a load of larger wood to his home when Mr. Robinson said he did not want the 12-inch lengths they had. Minnings claimed they had asked Mrs. Robinson "are you going to pay now or later?"

When he had learned this was the first load of wood the pair had delivered in Saanich, Magistrate Thomas pointed out that such tactics Minnings and Hansen were starting out wrong.

C. L. Harrison, municipal prosecutor, said he would withdraw the charge against the pair of failing to have a trades license.

East Indian Boy Hurt

At Jubilee Hospital today the attending physician reported Bagat Ram, 16-year-old son of Kundanlal Ram, 721 Cloverdale Avenue, injured in an accident Thursday night, "is doing well."

The boy, cycling on Douglas Street, struck the pavement head first when the front wheel came off the bicycle, Saanich police reported.

Polio Low On List Of Ills In B.C. This Year

Poliomyelitis is far down the list of diseases having crippling or long-lasting effects.

Provincial health department officials today showed records supporting this statement.

They were adding weight to a claim of the Health League of Canada that "a disproportionate emphasis is sometimes placed on poliomyelitis in comparison with other diseases."

The department classed polio with tuberculosis, syphilis and scarlet fever to score its point.

Tuberculosis, it was pointed out, sometimes requires years of treatment; syphilis must be watched for years, too, and scarlet fever frequently has rheumatic and heart-crippling effects.

The incidence of each of these three diseases is much wider than polio, though, as the following number of cases in B.C. from Jan. 1 to Aug. 13 this year show:

Tuberculosis 1,286 new cases; syphilis 514; scarlet fever 336 and polio 94.

There was a large proportion of deaths from tuberculosis in particular, it was stated.

It was understandable, though, that parents should feel nervous about poliomyelitis at this time of the year.

There are specific preventives for many diseases, but knowledge of the "why" of polio epidemics is scanty and there is no known preventive.

However there are sanitary precautions which should be followed, and the health leaders offered the following common sense advice:

Live out-of-doors as much as possible; make certain there is good ventilation when indoors; water not chlorinated should be boiled; milk supplies should be pasteurized; streams or beaches polluted by sewage should not be used for bathing; rubbish should be burned or disposed of in proper receptacles; flies and mosquitoes should be kept out of the home; dusting should be done with a damp cloth; fatigue and crowds should be avoided.

Cuckoo Clock In City Park Good Idea, Says Williams

With clocks of their manufacture already ticking merrily away in many parts of the world, it now is one of the dreams of an English firm to have the springtime call of the cuckoo marking the hours in Victoria parks... by way of one of their special clocks of course.

The proposition drew response from Acting Mayor Ed. Williams who feels that such a clock would be not only a tourist attraction, but a constant source of interest to Victorians themselves.

Part of the acting mayor's enthusiasm came from the fact that he saw a large flower-clock, with a cuckoo call for the hours, when he visited Edinburgh, Scotland, last year. Hundreds came to see and hear the clock, he said.

The rest of the enthusiasm, of course, was because he was raised in Cornwall, Eng., where the cry of the cuckoo was a familiar and much-loved sound to many.

The company is Charles H. Potts Co. Ltd., of Leeds, whose Toronto agent, Trevor Adams, wrote M. F. Hunter, city clerk, to "respectfully bring to your attention the advantages of erecting clocks on your civic and public buildings, making them even more imposing and adding to their national importance."

The piece de resistance Acting Mayor Williams was the following paragraph from Mr. Adams: "Furthermore, the beauty of your parks may be further enhanced by the addition of a floral clock electrically or mechanically operated. As an added attraction, these clocks may be fitted with a special apparatus to reproduce a 'cuckoo call' to record the hours."

Seeks To Increase Fines For Violation Of Meter By-Law

A move to increase the penalty for persons found guilty of putting slugs into parking meters will be under way shortly.

Acting Mayor Ed. Williams said today he would discuss a by-law amendment to secure the increase when A. J. Patton, city solicitor, returns from his holidays Aug. 29.

Earlier, the acting mayor had said he would like to see the fine increased from its present $1 for the first offence to $50 when business men were involved. Such things, he believed, were understandable only when done by children.

What increase he would discuss with the city solicitor, Ald. Williams was not sure, but he said he definitely would recommend an increase in the penalty. The recommended increase, he said, would apply only to the placing of slugs in the meter.

A fine of $35 was imposed against Michael W. Barron, Belmont Trailer Camp, Island Highway, when he was convicted by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in city police court today on a charge of careless driving. Charge arose from an accident with another

Bigamist To Serve 3-Month Sentence

A sentence of three months in Oakalla Prison Farm, was imposed against Frank J. Miller, middle-aged Sooke resident, by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in city police court today when he appeared for penalty on a bigamy charge.

Miller pleaded guilty to a charge of marrying another woman last November while the one he is married to is still alive.

In asking for a suspended sentence, J. A. Byers, defence counsel, pointed out that Mrs. Miller (accused's legal wife) had moved to the United States and was earning her living there.

"Miller, I understand, had been told his wife married again and in his ignorance he had presumed that if she were married she had secured a divorce," said Mr. Byers.

Magistrate Thomas said that no good purpose could be served by putting the defendant in jail for a long term. "I think three months in Oakalla will serve the ends of justice in this case," he said.

Life Underwriters Entertain Orphans

The Victoria and Island Life Underwriters' Association entertained the children of the B.C. Protestant Orphanage at a picnic at Witty's Lagoon Wednesday afternoon. The 36 children and members of the staff were transported by bus to the beach where they indulged in swimming, games, races and a good picnic supper.

Members of the Life Underwriters' Association who attended included Tom Leeming, John McTavish and Lorman Tanner, president of the association.

An inquiry has been received by the Canadian Red Cross Society concerning John Pagia. The address forwarded by the national office is Fort St., Box 253, British Columbia, so it is assumed that Victoria is the city. Mr. Pagia is a baker and was last heard from four years ago. Anyone knowing his present whereabouts is asked to contact the local Red Cross office at 1046 Fort Street, phone B3159.

License Violators Fined In Saanich

A warning that court action will be taken against all those people who have failed to get 1949 trades licences in Saanich, was served in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon when two paid $10 fines each. Pleading guilty to the charge were Wong Lee Him, 1714 Government Street, and Karma Singh, 270 Burnside Road.

Patricia To Come Off Service

One of Canadian Pacific's newest coast liners, the Princess Patricia, which will be withdrawn from the triangle service with the close of the summer tourist season and laid up in the Inner Harbor here.

T.E.V. Princess Patricia, one of two 6,000-ton coast passenger vessels brought from Scotland earlier this year for the C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Service, will be laid up in Victoria during the winter months, it has been learned.

The Patricia, currently on the triangle run between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle, will be taken out of service Oct. 15 when the company puts its winter schedule into effect.

T.E.V. Princess Marguerite, sister ship of the Patricia, will remain in service along with Ss. Princess Joan and Ss. Princess Elizabeth.

Present service on the triangle run will be maintained until Oct. 14, with two exceptions. The existing morning run between Vancouver and Victoria, leaving the mainland centre at 3, will be discontinued after Sept. 24.

With the Patricia out of service, the Marguerite will be called on to provide day-time service between here and Vancouver, while the Joan and Elizabeth will serve the two Canadian cities during the night and will ply between here and Seattle during the day.

The Marguerite will leave Vancouver at 9:30 a.m., arriving here at 1:45 p.m., and will leave on the return trip at 2:35 p.m., arriving 6:50 p.m.

Night service between the two cities will remain as at present.

The so-called night boats will make day sailings to Seattle, leaving here at 9:30 a.m., arriving 2:45 p.m., leaving on the return at 4:45 p.m., reaching here 9:45.

NANAIMO SERVICE
Winter schedule between Nanaimo and Vancouver will go into effect Sept. 27. The service will be half what it is at the present time. Instead of six sailings daily in each direction, there will be three.

Summer service between Steveston and Sidney, supplied by M.V. Motor Princess, will end Sept. 19.

Seattle Craft Attract Attention In Inner Harbor

More than half a million dollars' worth of pleasure boats were moored in Victoria's Inner Harbor today. And nearly all were from Seattle.

The ships attracted much attention from visitors and residents alike who lined the Causeway, gazing at the craft.

Largest vessel of the lot was the Canim, chartered power boat from Seattle. Most popular with the onlookers was the 250-ton auxiliary schooner "Gracie S," rigged as an old-time sailing ship.

The Gracie S had called at this port several times this summer. It has been making regular two-week cruises in B.C. waters carrying youngsters who pay for the privilege of serving aboard her as deck hands.

Miss America, 1948
Cause Of Near Riot

GENOA, Italy (UP)—Bebe Shopp, Miss America of 1948, almost started a riot Thursday night when she made a tour of night clubs along the Italian Riviera, Italian newspapers reported today.

Police cordons were placed around the Covo Club in the resort town of Santa Margherita and crowds of bobbysoxers greeted her when she appeared at another night club in Genoa. "Bebe walked into the night clubs like a queen in a royal palace," one Italian paper reported. "One unidentified local beauty scratched her boyfriend when he tried to reach Miss Shopp through the police cordons."

Miss Shopp will continue on to Florence today.

LUMBER YARD BLAZES—Fire of unknown origin made short work of a section of the 200-acre Gilles Bros. lumber yard near Arnprior, Ont., on Tuesday. The flames raged unchecked for four hours, destroying millions of feet of lumber for an estimated damage of nearly $300,000.

Case Against Nfld. Premier
Will Be Reviewed By Judge

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A new twist in the vote intimidation case against Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland was announced Thursday night by Magistrate Hugh O'Neill.

The magistrate, who ruled some weeks ago that the case go before a preliminary hearing of the Supreme Court, said a Supreme Court judge first will examine the facts to decide on procedure.

It was possible that the judge would send the case back to be heard by Magistrate O'Neill instead of endorsing the preliminary hearing procedure.

This development came as a result of a request by complainant W. J. Browne, who charged that the Premier practiced intimidation in the south coast district of Ferryland while supporting a Liberal candidate in the Dominion election campaign.

Mr. Browne, Progressive Conservative, was elected in the federal riding of St. John's West, which includes Ferryland. He charged that Mr. Smallwood threatened to cut off public funds from Ferryland unless it supported the Liberal candidate.

Mr. Smallwood replied in a statement that his remarks were made in a bantering and joking manner.

Mr. O'Neill said solicitors for Mr. Browne had asked for a procedure known as "case states," in which the magistrate will set forth the arguments on both sides along with his decision for examination in chambers by a Supreme Court judge.

The judge then will decide whether the case should go before a Supreme Court preliminary hearing or be sent back to the magistrate's domain.

It was not known when the case will be reviewed.

New Miss Canada Planning Career As Concert Star

By A. E. FULFORD

TORONTO (CP)—Still trembling with excitement, Margaret Lynn Munn, Miss Canada of 1949, planned a singing career today on a $3,000 scholarship.

The tall, willowy North Vancouver blonde won the title, the singing lessons, a $1,000 diamond ring and a hatful of other gifts Thursday night as she was crowned by Betty Jean Ferguson of Halifax, 1948 winner.

The pageant was promotional flop but no one could prove it by Lynn as she sat on the throne held her mother's hand and blinked at flashlights and reporter's questions. She trembled so, the donor stabbed three times before he got the diamond ring on the second finger of her right hand.

Less than 1,000 persons, mostly relatives, attended the pageant in Maple Leaf Gardens. Billed for two nights, it was cut to one when the Toronto public stayed away in droves. The contest was staged in Hamilton in the two previous years.

Runner-up was Joan Durrell, 20-year-old Toronto blonde, and third was Arlene Markell, 22-year-old Toronto redhead. They won $2,000 and $1,000 scholarships.

Among seven other girls who won $500 scholarships were Gloria Gray, Winnipeg, and Joan McPherson, Vancouver.

Between flashlight bursts Miss Munn told reporters she has lived in Toronto two years, is a secretary in a broker's office here and is "just thrilled to death." She came to Toronto, for singing lessons and was joined for pageant week by her mother who lives in Vancouver and travels for a brush manufacturer. A 20-year-old brother, Gordon, teaches school in Vancouver.

THE MEASUREMENTS

She is five feet six inches tall, weighs 123 pounds and her three important measurements—bust, waist and hips—are 35, 25 and 34. She has perfect teeth and darkish blonde hair.

"The chance to continue my singing studies is what I've always dreamed of," she said. "I'll lose no time leaving the typewriter and getting at it. I hope some day to be a concert star."

She performed capably Thursday night at both the piano and microphone, playing Chopin's

Minute Waltz and singing a ballad from La Traviata.

Besides the scholarship and the diamond ring, Miss Canada will get a coast-to-coast Canada tour immediately and a trip to Peru and possibly Australia in the fall. She will represent Canada in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City Labor Day.

Free Medical Care
Sought For Veterans
Not On Allowances

Esquimalt Legion, Branch 172, at its monthly meeting endorsed two resolutions, one pertaining to long service pensioners who are in receipt of $50 a month or less receiving the same advantages as a veteran on war veteran's allowance, in so far as the right of free medical care and hospitalization are concerned.

The second resolution dealt with widows and children of deceased veterans. At the present time they are denied the privileges of medical attention and hospitalization. An amendment to the act is being sought granting them free medical care and hospitalization until such time as the widow remarries, and the children are taken off pension allowance.

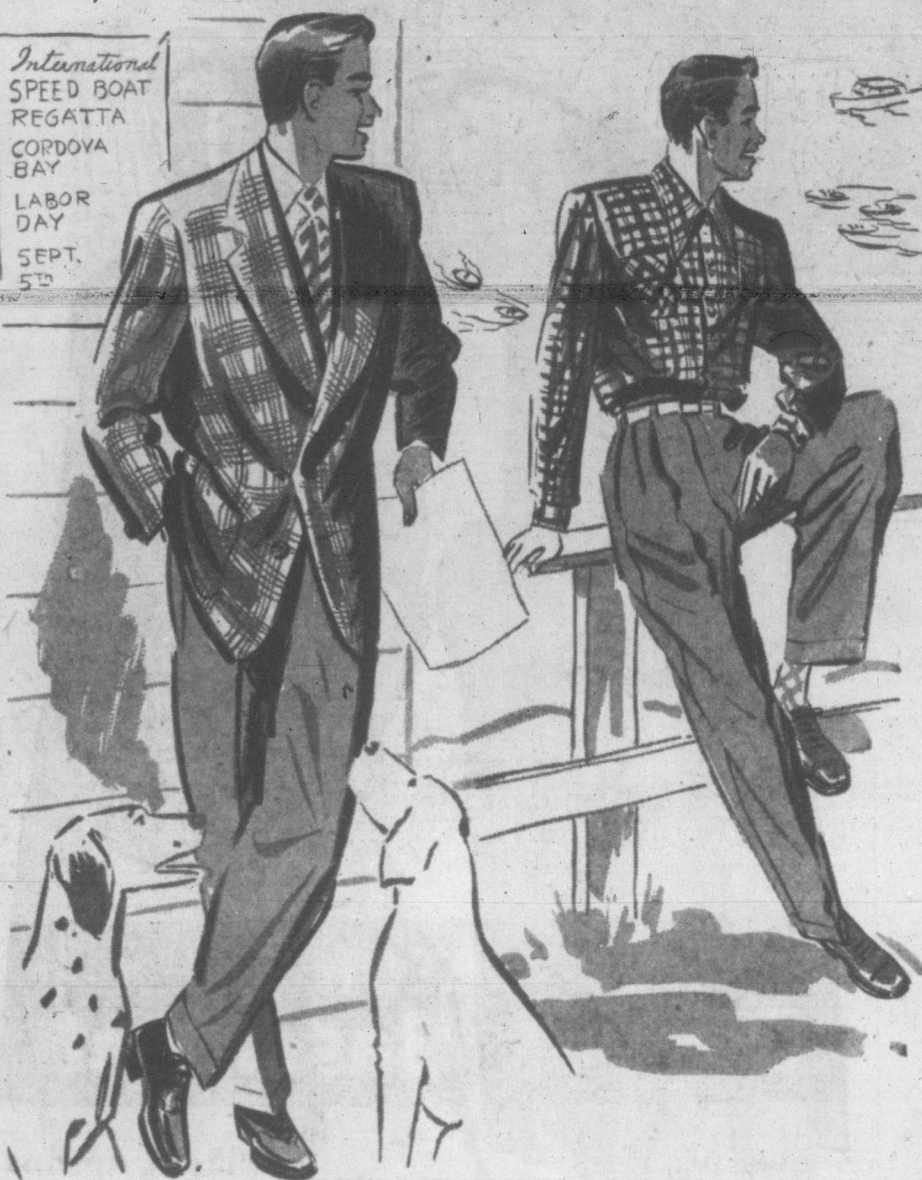

Other items dealt with included the appointment of a Legion representative to sit in on a civil service examination at H.M.C. Van. Women Take Early Lead In Golf Tourney

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Vancouver golfers took an early lead in the Canadian Ladies' Amateur Golf Championship which started today over the Capilano layout here.

The tournament—a 54-hole medal affair—has 136 entries.

Mrs. E. Beardmore, of Vancouver Capilano, finished with 95 over the par-78 course, and clubmate Mrs. D. Collison, also scored 95.

Two strokes behind with 97s were Mrs. J. Sanderson, of Vancouver Point Grey, and Mrs. D. Robertson, of Victoria's Gorge Vale.

Also breaking 100 over the uphill, down-dale course under ideal weather conditions were Mrs. S. R. Weston, of Victoria, with 98, and Miss A. Gregory, of Vancouver Shaughnessy, with 99.

Most of the low-handicap players were teeing off later. Among them was Miss Ada McKenzie, of the Ladies' Golf Club, Toronto. Miss McKenzie has won the Canadian Ladies' Open Championship, which starts here Monday, five times.

The closed championship, which ends Monday, is limited to Canadian women golfers and excludes members of inter-provincial teams.

U.S. Champions Take Lead In Walker Cup Golf Tournament

John Dawson and Bruce McCormick, a pair of California veterans, made it 2-0 for the United States by swamping Ken Thom and Art Perowne, 3 and 7.

Willie Stranahan, United States amateur champion, and Ray Billows, runner-up for the title last fall, lost to the British pair of Joe Carr and Ronnie White, 3 and 2.

Frank Stranahan and Charles Kocis, after letting their British rivals pull even on the 33rd, downed Jim Bruel and Max McCready, 2 and 1.

Helicopter Joins In War On Polio

Last year there wasn't a single case of polio in Springfield, N.Y. This year there were six. To prevent any more, the town of 3,000 hired a helicopter to cover its swamps, stagnant pools, backyards and river with an aerosol fog containing DDT. The fog, forced into mosquito-breeding places by the powerful downdraft of the copter's main rotor, killed off the town's mosquito and fly population, and residents hope, any further polio.

Wife Charges Husband Beat Two Children To Death

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—An English war bride, charged with murdering one of her two children, claimed today that her husband beat both of them to death.

Mrs. Brenda Edwards, 27, said her husband, Billie Burke Ed-wards, slapped their seven-months-old daughter "real hard" last July 20 "to make her mind."

Edwards recently was adjudged insane.

The couple was cleared earlier, in England, in connection with the death of another child. But today Mrs. Edwards claimed that her husband beat it to death also.

Mrs. Edwards was charged last Tuesday with murdering Beryl June here.

Earlier, the couple said the baby died of injuries she received when she fell from an auto seat during a ride.

Sheriff James F. Cunningham said Mrs. Edwards called him to her cell Wednesday night and said she could not sleep because her conscience bothered her. Then she made the confession, he said.

She said she awoke on the night of July 19 and heard her husband in the baby's room. She asked him what he was doing and he answered "I slapped her to make her mind," according to Mrs. Edwards.

Mrs. Edwards said she rocked the screaming child but after a while the baby's eyes "didn't open and wouldn't move."

The young war bride also accused her husband of slapping the child that died in England.

Twelve Ambulances Rushed To Wreck In New Hampshire

CANAAN, N.H. (AP)—The Boston and Main Railroad's Montreal-bound Ambassador crashed head-on into the southbound Ambassador here today. First reports said there were no deaths but about 40 persons were injured.

A railroad spokesman said the southbound express, running from Montreal to Boston, had taken a siding here to let the northbound express pass through on the single track line. For some unexplained reason, he said, the northbound train also was switched into the siding.

A reporter for the Canaan Reporter, a weekly, said about 12 ambulances were at the scene. He said there were two or three stretcher cases but most of the injuries were cuts and nose bleeds.

The railroad said the train crews apparently escaped injury except for two conductors who were shaken up.
